OLD CHAMPION POSTS FORFEIT; DARES JOHNSON

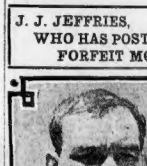
NEW YORK, July 28.—James J. Jeffries to-day posted with the sporting editor of an evening newspaper $5,000 as a forfeit to show his willingness to fight Jack Johnson.

Jeff stipulated that Johnson must cover this forfeit at once, and that when the men sign articles, after the club which will stage the bout has been selected, each man must post $5,000 more, all of which must go as a side bet. The fight can be of any duration from twenty to 100 rounds.

Jeffries arrived from Chicago with Sam Berger, his manager and sparring partner, on the Twentieth Century limited, and lost no time in getting down to business. He went to the Hotel Albany, and there early in the afternoon the money was posted.

Jeffries will soon leave for Carlsbad to put in a few weeks of preliminary training at the Springs there. Berger will remain in this country to complete the details of the match with Johnson.

J. J. JEFFRIES, WHO HAS POSTED FORFEIT MONEY



$540 STOLEN FROM POLICE STATION NO. 5

The news that a roll of bills, amounting in all to $540, the property of Patrolman John M. Jackson of the East Dedham street police station, was stolen from Jackson's locker in the guard room in the East Dedham street police station was made public to-day. None but policemen and police officials have access to the guard room.

The entire force of the East Dedham Street Station are greatly wrought up over the theft, and the implication that some one of their number is guilty.

Police Captain Dan Ritter of the station has Special Officer William Irwin and Patrolman Clifford at work on the case ever since Jackson told him of his loss.

Captain Addresses Force.

Last night Captain Ritter lined up the men and said: "If any member of this force took that money, knows who took it he would better make a clean breast of it right now. The chain of circumstantial evidence is tightening. There will be no escape for the man who stole that money unless he confesses. Confession is all pointing one way. Confession must be made at once. Soon it will be too late."

Every week for fifty-four weeks Policeman Jackton has been placing a $10 bill in his locker for safe keeping. He declares he had no confidant, that no one, so far as he knows, was aware of his using his locker as a safety deposit vault.

The keys to the different lockers are all supposedly different. No person but policemen visit the guard room. The officers of the station house are usually there, and how the money could have been taken is a problem which has so far baffled the entire force.

Series of Thefts.

Jackson missed his roll last Thursday when he went to deposit another $10 bill. There was no money there. He searched the locker in vain and then he confided to Captain Ritter. A quiet investigation was started. For several nights the captain has lined up the men and told them of the theft. He has urged, entreated and demanded a confession or revelation which would cause Jackson's money to be restored.

For several months small articles have now and again been missed by the policemen at the East Dedham street station. Now it was a revolver, now a coat or something else. Nothing was said of the pracice until Jackson's savings of a year were filched.

VAST THRONG MOURNS FOR HUNTINGTON

Emmanuel Church was crowded this afternoon at the impressive funeral service for Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington, pastor of Grace Church, New York. A special train, carrying the private car of J. Pierpont Morgan, the choir, vestry and staff of Grace Church, came to this city from New York.

The service was conducted by Bishop Greer of New York, assisted by Bishop Lawrence of Boston and Dr. Elwood Worcester, rector of Emmanuel Church. Bishop Greer came from Northeast Harbor and Bishop Lawrence from Bar Harbor, where they are spending the Summer, to take part in the services.

Two of the Grace Church staff of clergymen who were present were the Rev. Karl Reiland and the Rev. George H. Bottome. There was no eulogy. The interment was at Mt. Auburn cemetery, Cambridge.

Dr. Huntington died at the home of his son-in-law, in Natanl, last Sunday night. His son, Francis C. Huntington of New York, and his two daughters, were present at the funeral services. Miss Margaret Huntington raced across the ocean to see her father and got here barely in time to see him in life.

The funeral service was public and every available seat in the church was taken shortly after the doors were opened.

NEW VICTORY IN LYNN STRIKE

There is much rejoicing to-day among the striking packers in the Lynn shoe factories, for the W. K. and A. H. Jones Shoe Company has yielded. The terms are the same as the James Phelan Company and the J. H. Varney concerns submitted to. None but the Joseph Caunt Company of the four big concerns struck against by the packing room girls has met the strikers' demands.

Skilled tip fixers are to get nineteen cents an hour for a ten-hour day. That means more than the $10 scale originally asked. New girls are to get eleven cents an hour; two months later they are to get fifteen cents an hour, two months later seventeen cents an hour, and then nineteen, the maximum, when they have become sufficiently proficient.

POLICE HOLD GIRL AGED 12 AS BURGLAR

A girl of only twelve years, but charged with being a burglar, was arrested by the Cambridge police to-day.

If the police accusations are correct, this youthful prisoner has committed at least two distinct breaks and has stolen a quantity of jewelry and clothing. The police declare that not only are the charges true, but that the girl has admitted them.

The arrest was made by Patrolman O'Brien of Station 3 in Cambridge, following an investigation of breaks last Monday at the homes of Michael A. Garvey of No. 280 Elm street and John A. Kelley of No. 293 Elm street, next door.

At the Garvey house a gold watch and chain and a stickpin were taken. The following goods were taken from the Kelley house: Silk waist, underskirt, silk stockings, four silver napkins, glass pitcher and tumbler.

On account of the girl's youth she was not arraigned in the Cambridge Police Court. Arrangements were made to bring her before the Juvenile Court.

TALK REWARD IN LYNN DEATH

LYNN, July 28.—Lynn police are considering the advisability of offering a reward for the capture of Frank James, or Vahan Nalbandian, the Armenian suspected of the murder of Minne K. Mugian in this city, but the aldermanic committee at City Hall, which will have to appropriate the money, will move it can legally do so.

The situation, as far as the police are concerned, is peculiar. They still are inclined to think that the death of Mugian was due to accident and not design. They have found no motive for the murder, it is said. At City Hall the question is raised: How can the city offer a reward for the arrest of a man who may not be accused of murder after he is arrested?

LAD MILE OFF SHORE SAVED

Wilfort O. Osborne, fourteen, of No. 775 Ocean avenue, Revere, was saved from drowning to-day by Elliot Howker, seventeen, a member of the Revere High school ball team, and Wolfe Vigdor, twenty, of No. 4 Jones park, Beachmont, off Revere Beach, at the foot of Revere street. The boy, who was floating on water wings about a mile from shore, owes his life to the chance that his rescuers were paddling in a canoe and heard his cries for assistance. He was brought ashore in the canoe, thoroughly exhausted, and taken to the station of the Metropolitan police, where he was revived.

Osborne had gone into the water about an hour before. Though he is not an accomplished swimmer, he kept moving farther and further from shore. Feeling his strength giving, he turned back, but became exhausted before he had gone far. The distance to the beach was such that no one on shore saw him or heard his cries.

TO CLOSE CHINATOWN TO WHITE WOMEN

A letter received at the Mayor's office to-day from Miss Charlotte Smith, president of the Massachusetts Homestead Association, asks Mayor Gaynor to lend aid in a movement to prevent white women from visiting the Chinese colony in this city. She calls attention to the recent Sigel murder in New York, and exhorts the Mayor to exert himself toward preventing in Boston conditions such as were disclosed in the investigation of the Sigel case.

FUND FOR BAND CONCERTS.

The Park Department was notified by Mayor Hibbard to-day that a portion of the $3,000,000 left to the city of Boston by the late George S. Parkman will be set aside for furnishing band concerts in the city parks.

FORCE THAW TO ADMIT INSANITY

But Only for Half a Minute, He Says, When He Killed White—Slayer of Architect on Jerome Grill Shows Remarkable Cleverness.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 28.—Harry K. Thaw, on the witness stand to-day before Justice Mills, in answer to District Attorney Jerome's question whether he had ever been declared insane, replied that he never had been declared medically insane. Later, however, he said he had been insane for half a minute when he killed Stanford White.

The composure and keen reckoning of Stanford White's slayer with every attempt on Jerome's part to make him prove himself insane by his own words and acts nettled the cross-examiner considerably.

Thaw declared he killed White because he feared the architect had a gun and would kill him.

Thaw admitted that he knew Susie Merrill, a former Boston woman, but denied that he had hired rooms at her New York apartment, as was testified yesterday. He said he had been dismissed from Harvard for taking up a study not in the curriculum, and nettled Jerome by replying that the study was poker. When recess was taken, Thaw's mother rushed forward to congratulate him on the good showing he had made.

To-day was the crisis in Thaw's fight for liberty.

At the opening of court Thaw, his mother, sister and his half-brother, Josiah Thaw, and wife, arrived. District Attorney Jerome came in at 10 o'clock. The usual exchange of greetings between Thaw and Jerome were omitted.

Thaw sat looking straight at the marble floor of the justice's bench and gave no indications of being conscious of Jerome's presence. Jerome took one glance at Thaw, and finding him non-communicative, busied himself preparing his papers.

Dr. Isham G. Harris, assistant superintendent of the Hudson River State Hospital for Insane at Poughkeepsie, was recalled, and at the request of Mr. Mor-

HILL'S OFFICE WILL TAKE UP DONOVAN CASE

President James Donovan of the Democratic City Committee visited the District Attorney's office again to-day with his counsel, Malcolm L. Jennings. They talked with Assistant District Attorney Curtis concerning the charges made by Alderman Curley at a meeting of the board that Donovan has been paid $50 a week for the last eight years by the New England Sanitary Disposal Company. This company has a contract at $100,000 a year with the city for disposing of the city's garbage. Donovan, according to Curley, received $50 a week for painlaining friendly relations between the city and the company.

Donovan to-day was assured by the Assistant District Attorney that the District Attorney's office would investigate the matter. At yesterday's visit no answer was given.

Donovan has also requested the Finance Commission to investigate the matter. This will be done. After the visit to the District Attorney's office to-day Mr. Jennings, the counsel for Donovan, gave out the following:

Statement by Counsel.

"Alderman Curley, in repeated interviews had with representatives of different newspapers, has insisted that he would be satisfied with an examination of the books of the garbage company which has the contract with the city of Boston for the removal of garbage, and that he was confident if such an examination was made that his allegation that Mr. Donovan received $50 per week from the company would be shown conclusively to be true.

"Mr. Donovan makes this proposition to Mr. Curley: The contract entered into between the company and the city of Boston was amended in 1901 during the administration of Mayor Hart; it provides in effect that an examination of the books of the company may be made by proper municipal officers at certain times and under certain conditions; in view of the fact that, at the present time, this whole matter is being considered, it would now seem to be up to the municipal authorities to make such an examination.

"Outrage," Says Donovan.

"Mr. Donovan has requested the Finance Commission to make such an examination. He now asks Alderman Curley to join him in that request, and he further suggests to the alderman that by the introduction of a proper order at a meeting of the Board on the part of Alderman Curley the desired may be accomplished. An opportunity for the investigation desired by the Alderman is thus furnished him."

"Jennings' statement says what I want to say," said Mr. Donovan. "That's all I have to say except to repeat the statement of yesterday that Curley's charge is an outrageous lie."

FATHER HELD IN SON'S DEATH

Patrick McGeough was held without bail for the Superior Court on the charge of murdering his son Patrick at their home, No. 5 Ferrin street, Charlestown, during a quarrel on July 15, by Judge Joseph J. Corbett, in the Charlestown Police Court to-day. McGeough is charged with inflicting knife wounds in his son's chest, which resulted in his death at the Relief Hospital two days later.

All through the half-hour hearing, McGeough appeared calm and stolid, but when the bloody knife, with which he is alleged to have killed his son, was exhibited in the courtroom, the father burst into tears.

Patrolmen Riordan and Montague of the City square station conducted the government's case, while McGeough was represented by Attorney William H. Hayes. After the brief hearing McGeough was led away to the Charles street jail.

The police charge McGeough with murdering his son at the McGeough home on July 15, when the boy remonstrated against his father swearing at his mother. The boy, they say, interceded for his mother and a quarrel followed, in which the elder McGeough is charged with having stabbed the son with a pocketknife.

SOMERVILLE TAX RATE UP 20 CENTS

Because of the sharp falling off in personal estate valuation, and the depreciation of real estate in the older part of the city, the members of the Somerville Board of Assessors met in City Hall to-day and voted to increase the tax rate from $18.40 to $18.60. The news of the increase caused much comment in political circles.

AMERICAN LEAGUE GROUNDS, July 28.—The Red Sox played against the Yanks in the last game of their long trip this afternoon. All day they had been looking forward to the time when they will be back on home grounds again. The team is in good shape and Manager Lake believes his men will make a fine showing against the Western clubs in the games that are to come, beginning to-morrow.

Both teams to-day were anxious to annex the battle, and they put in the best pitchers available. The Red Sox declared that there would be no walkover to-day as there was yesterday. They have not been hitting the ball lately, but they know they can sling and they think it is about time they got busy with the stick.

The weather was warm and pleasant, and there was a large crowd on hand when the umpires took the game in hand. President John I. Taylor sat in the grand stand and watched his men work, rooting hard all the time for a Boston victory.

LEAVES FAMILY ALL.

The will of Charles W. Kellogg, the Boston and Brookline insurance man, leaving an estate of $135,000, was allowed to-day by Judge Flint at Dedham. His wife, Jane, was named as executrix. The entire estate is left to Mrs. Kellogg, four sons and a daughter.

SOUTH END GROUNDS, July 28.—The Doves made their final appearance until August 17, here this afternoon with the New York Giants as opponents.

The players went into the double-header a pretty tired bunch, for they have had a tiresome stretch of it. Three double-headers and a seventeen-inning game in the last four playing days.

Up to to-day's games, the best the Giants could get is an even break, and this is not all what Acting Manager Fred Tenney expected when he came to Boston.

Tenney was hard pushed for a pair of pitchers to work in the two games, as he has used up all his good men with the exception of Bugs Raymond, in the previous games of the series.

The fine weather and promise of a couple of good games brought out the fans, and though the bleacher seats were pretty warm perches, the stands were well filled.

To-morrow the Doves will rest if a hot weather trip to St. Louis can be called resting, and then on the next day they will play the Cardinals at St. Louis.

MOORS ROUT SPAIN'S ARMY; BARCELONA IS SWEPT BY REVOLT

LISBON, Portugal, July 28.—Spain has suffered the most crushing defeat since the Spanish-American war. Dispatches received here from Melilla bear only messages of mutiny, slaughter and Moorish successes. The downfall of Spain as a military power is at hand.

It is reported from the scene of the Moroccan war that General Pinto and several of his staff were killed in fierce fighting today.

A further dispatch declares that several companies of the Spanish forces in the Melilla barracks have mutinied, and would not be driven into to-day's fighting even at the point of the bayonet.

Spaniards Are Routed.

The rigid censorship established by the Spanish government has failed of its purpose. Despite the vague dispatches of Spanish successes in Morocco, and the reports that the mountain passes are cluttered with the bodies of dead tribesmen, it is generally known now that the Rahyls and other Moroccan tribesmen from the Riff coast have completely routed the Spaniards.

The fall of Melilla is only a matter of time, and the driving out of the Spanish from the country of the Moors is looked upon now as inevitable.

Spain is rent by domestic dissension. She is impoverished of both men and money. There was a general feeling throughout Spain that the nation would be crushed in war with Morocco. That is why the antagonistic faction of the press opposed the war so heartily.

Spain's Fate in the Balance.

After the opening of hostilities before the city of Melilla it was seen that the Spanish troops would be annihilated by the powerful and well equipped tribesmen. While the Moors do not compare with the European armies in a point of drill and field discipline, they are armed with modern weapons and unlimited ammunition and know how to use their firearms. Thus the fate of Spain hangs in the balance.

The Moors are increasing their army while the Spanish forces are being weakened day by day. The continent is now awaiting Spain's own acknowledgment of defeat.

Bombardment Continued.

The Spanish batteries at Melilla continued bombarding the Moors to-day, according to the advices, but until the latter are dislodged from Mount Gurugu, which is 3,000 feet high and dominates the entire peninsula, the Spanish troops face annihilation. To accomplish this a force of 25,000 men will be necessary.

Hospitals for treating the wounded are totally inadequate. A theatre in Melilla has been converted into a hospital and many wounded lie in the streets. Details of the fighting on July 23, when more than 400 Spaniards were killed, were received here to-day. The Moors ambushed the Spanish column in the After Ravine, cutting up the column and sending it in retreat to the Spanish gunboat Martin Alonzo Pinzon and the Melilla forts.

MADRID, July 28.—The city of Barcelona, 600 strikers and men with industries for fighting, is in the hands of the government and civil guard to-day, following the most serious outbreak yet occurring.

Infuriated mobs swept through the streets, dynamiting church, public buildings, and bridges before the troops and police could get them under control. Additional troops were rushed to the turbulent city to-day by the government.

The monastery at Pueblo Nuevo was dynamited. One monk was killed and others injured.

All trains attempting to leave Barcelona to-day were attacked by the rioters and the passengers driven out and attacked. Several passengers were killed and some of the trains were wrecked. It is estimated that more than 100 persons have been killed in the city in the last twenty-four hours.

The bridges of the Tarragona railroad outside the city were dynamited, while the rioters, incited by their own violence, drove back the police who tried to interfere.

King Hurries to Capital.

Alarmed by the situation in Barcelona and adjacent territory, King Alfonso hurriedly left San Sebastian to-day for Madrid. The Barcelona situation now being regarded as purely revolutionary Premier Maura will likely resign in favor of a military cabinet.

Martial law at Tarragona and Gerona, in addition to Barcelona, to-day is the only thing which has kept the situation in hand.

The suffering among the poor is acute. Couriers arrived at the capital to-day from Barcelona with their midst to give a word of mouth a description of the horrifying aspect of the city.

Banks Reported Looted.

During the rioting stores and shops were looted and merchandise and foodstuffs piled in the streets where the torch was applied. Now the sufferers are glad enough to dig among the ashes, fighting among themselves for charred and mouldy scraps to save them from starvation. Casks of wine were rolled into the streets, the heads knocked in and emptied. Sober, the rioters were violent, but drunk they became ferocious.

It is reported that banks were looted, although the civil authorities and soldiers were posted about them and public buildings endeavoring to save them.

St. Paul's Church, near Barcelona, was burned, and the parochial school building in the suburb of Sarria. The fourth regiment force of armed guards attempt to drive back the mobs.

WORKMEN TO SHARE COMPANY'S PROFITS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 28.—From $200,000 to $400,000 will be annually distributed among the 5,000 employees of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company as the result of a profit-sharing plan decided on by the stockholders. The plan has not been fully developed, but in a general way it is based on the earnings of the company and will reach as high as 10 per cent of the wages of every man in the works, from the heads of departments down to day laborers.

Nordica Issues Her Wedding Invitations.

LONDON—"Mme. Lillian Nordica requests the pleasure of your company on the occasion of her marriage to George W. Young, at King's Weigh House Church, Grosvenor square, London, Thursday, July 29, at 2:30 o'clock." This invitation has been received by 300 friends of the prima donna. All of the plans for the wedding are not complete, although either Lord Charles Beresford or John Ridgley Carter, secretary of the American Embassy, will give the bride away. Patrick Townsend Martin will be the best man. The bridesmaids, if any, are yet to be named, although Nordica probably will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Emelin Castillo. Nordica will wear a white gown made by Worth, trimmed with old Duchesse lace, but no hat.

Famous Van Dyck in Bond Street

LONDON—One of Van Dyck's greatest masterpieces, a portrait of historical fame and unquestionable authenticity, has passed from a well-known private collection in Brussels into the hands of Duveen Brothers and is now at their gallery in Bond street. The picture is a full-length portrait of Mme. Vinck, which after passing through the Spruyt, Vander Schrieck and Pauwels families became the property of M. Paul Dansette of Brussels, from whom it has now been obtained by Duveen Brothers.

Ambassador Reid Coming Home.

LONDON—The London Times says that Whitelaw Reid, the American Ambassador, is thinking of applying for a month's leave of absence, as arrangements are made and the other members of his family, who have arranged to leave London on August 7 for Aberdeen, Scotland, will likely precede him to the United States in eighteen months.

Will Not Go to Paris to Kill.

PARIS—The police have received a dispatch stating that Janney, the Montgomery, Ala., stock broker, has abandoned his intention of coming to Paris. Janney sailed on the Campania from New York on July 21, declaring that he had seen in a dream the murderer of his brother-in-law seated in a Paris cafe, and that he was going over to shoot him as he would a mad dog.

Whites to Visit in Germany.

BERLIN—Henry White, the American Ambassador at Paris, and Mrs. White arrived in Berlin to-day on their way to visit the Count and Countess Scherr-Tross, the parents of their son-in-law, Dolores Sliedl. David J. Hill, the American Ambassador here, went to Leipsic to-day to attend the 500th anniversary of the University of Leipsic.

BRYAN TO STOP AT PANAMA ON TOUR

CINCINNATI, July 28.—William J. Bryan, who is filling an average of two engagements a day before Chautauqua audiences in Ohio, passed through Hamilton to the Miami Valley Chautauqua. Bryan denied abruptly a report that he would be a candidate for President on the Prohibition ticket. He said he would not be a candidate for Senator from Nebraska, and would not move to Texas to enter politics. He said he would make an extended tour of South America this Winter. His first stop will be at Panama.

WALTHAM MAN HELD FOR DEATH BY AUTO

LOWELL, July 28.—Raymond Yetting of Waltham was found probably guilty of manslaughter in Police Court to-day in the death of Milton McFarland, who was killed by an automobile which Yetting was operating. Judge Pickman ordered cutting to bail $500 bonds and held the case over for the Grand Jury. Yetting and McFarland were engaged in furniture moving, bringing household goods from Watertown to this city. They had arrived in Middlesex street, and McFarland was helping the auto when Yetting backed it, pinning him against a building and crushing out his life.

LYNN, July 28.—Clarence A. Schuh, 4 fifteen-year-old Kentucky boy, was arraigned to-day before Judge Lummus in the police court on the charge of being a tramp. He had applied at police headquarters before and he said he was hungry and didn't have a cent. He had but his way by rail and boat from his home in Dayton, Ky. He had left there to see the world and came to Lynn looking for a shoe factory job, which he had not been able to find.

The police are waiting the arrival of money, which his mother, Mrs. Mary S. Schuh of No. 903 Third street, Dayton, Ky., has telegraphed. When it arrives the boy's journey home will be paid and he will be released.

IGNORES ADVICE OF MOTHER, "DON'T MARRY RICH MAN," AND DOES

"If my little daughter were of marriageable age I would say to her: 'Don't marry a fashionable millionaire,' and I would give her convincing reasons for this very unusual advice from an American mother."—Statement by Mrs. George Kemp of Boston and New York.

Just what her mother advised her not to do, Miss Gladys Kemp, the daughter of Mrs. George Kemp, well known in social circles of Boston, New York and Newport, has gone and done, in marrying under circumstances that point to an elopement, Frank Osmond Jones, Jr., son of one of New York's richest manufacturers.

The news of the wedding, which took place yesterday in Providence, will prove a sensation among the friends of the two families. The Kemps are relatives of President Taft, of the Vanderbilts by marriage, and have many relatives in Massachusetts.

The girl bride is unusually beautiful. Until recently she lived with her mother at the Westminster, Copley square, Boston. She has a brother in Harvard. Miss Kemp and young Jones left New York yesterday at noon and returned from Providence married at 10 o'clock last night.

Hurried to Church.

The City Hall in Providence is but one foot from the railroad station, yet so eager were the young people to be wed that they hailed a taxicab and, tossing a generous fee to the chauffeur, ordered him to drive there quickly.

The officials were very much excited and perplexed. They asked that the license be prepared with the utmost expedition. They put the usual preliminary questions without hesitation.

Mrs. Kemp said she was nineteen, the daughter of George Kemp of New York. Further than that she was born in Switzerland. Mr. Jones, who is a good-looking youth, said he was the son of a bank manufacturer, and was twenty-one. Miss Kemp laughed when he gave his occupation as "student."

With the marriage license in their hands they asked to be directed to the nearest Episcopal minister, and were whisked away to the parsonage of St. Joseph's Church, where the Rev. Edward R. Stretford tied the knot.

Then they raced back in the railroad station and took the first train bound East. They had no baggage.

Behind this brief dispatch lies a story as old as the world itself—the story told in saying, "Blood will tell."

It is a new romance in the famous Kemp family—the case of history repeating itself in a way that will bring no joys to the heart of Mrs. George Kemp, the mother of the runaway bride. For many years ago she herself ran away and married George Kemp, "the brains of the whole Kemp family," and later used it to such an extent that she wrote the world a warning against letting its daughters marry the sons of millionaires.

Mrs. Kemp was Miss Lilly Torry Wagstaff of Kansas. On her mother's side she was a Chontesa, one of the best French settlers there. She was the belle of the West, even as her daughter Gladys, just married yesterday, was the belle of the set all her own.

She was sister-in-law to Cathleen Nellson, who married Reginald Vanderbilt, and to "Baird" Nellson, who married Arthur Kemp, her husband's brother.

She sounded the depths or shallows of society, and a month after, as Mrs. Arthur Kemp, sued for a divorce, she, too, sought a separation from her husband, alleging that her one great sin and mistake had been in marrying a millionaire.

Warning to Mothers.

She was so distressed over the failure of what was termed when she married "A real love match" that she wrote this warning to American mothers:

"Millions for a young man means idleness, and idleness, as every thinking person knows, is the nurture of all vices.

"First comes idleness, then ennui, then doubtful amusement and viciousness at last! So may be written down the history of fashionable millionaires.

"The young man who is born to millions has a hard start in life. It were better that he were born the son of a labourer, with the lessons of industry, self-reliance and self-control to learn and master.

"The man who has not been brought up in the school of industry is almost certain to be a man of little morals.

"The fashionable millionaire is too often to be the vain fashion device about in the light of his prosperity and mates dance to his fashions. The father him for sordid reasons. The sin old saying, but true, that a fool and his money are soon parted. The flatterers get a great deal of the money and he gets a big permanent bump of self appreciation that no word of wifely reason or admiration can lessen."

Rich Sons in Idleness.

The Kemp, Arthur and George, were the sons of George Kemp, who was known to America as its most famous and most successful perfume manufacturer. He was a man of the old type, who loved his sons and his lifelong them. This made him shoulder burdens himself that he would not permit them to take upon themselves when they were growing into manhood.

He unconsciously threw them headlong into the midst of the idle rich, and as they told their mother, in spite of her warnings and freedom, made them both poorer than they had been for he had robbed them of purpose.

SHOOTER FINED $50 FOR LOSING TEMPER

For shooting James P. McLaughlin of No. 980 Harrison avenue last Thursday night, George Hall, 20 years old, of No. 92 Heath street, Roxbury, was placed on trial to-day before Judge Cohen in the Roxbury District Court. Lawyer Francis Costello, in defending Hall, said that he was intoxicated at the time of the shooting, and that their actions became so unbearable that he lost his temper and fired the shot which injured McLaughlin. The court found Hall guilty and imposed a fine of $50.

THAW TELLS OWN STORY ON STAND; TILTS WITH JEROME

Believed Evelyn Nesbit Under Influence of White; Denies Charge Hurled by Jerome in Court Today.

chauser read a report of the history of Harry K. Thaw given him by Mrs. Thaw, mother of the relator. Mr. Morschauser said he would later call Mrs. William Thaw to the stand.

Thaw was called at 10:07. He made a good impression at the start, answering all Jerome's questions in a clear voice, but taking plenty of time to carefully weigh the import. Jerome asked at the outset:

"You understand the nature of these proceedings" "Yes, to find out if I am properly in prison."

Q.—Why are you in prison? A.—Because when the jury acquitted me Justice Dowling sent me there.

Forced to Admit Killing.

Q.—You killed White, didn't you?"

Turning to the justice, Thaw asked if he was compelled to answer that, and when told to do so, said: "Yes," in a low voice.

Q.—Why, then, were you acquitted? A.—Chiefly by yourself; the jury thought that White deserved death. You so declared in your address to the jury.

Q.—If you felt that you had done some act of which you were justified you would not try to avoid the consequences by perjury, would you? A.—No, sir.

Q.—You heard the police tell that you claimed to hear voices of girls in the station house? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you hear these voices? A.—Yes, I think so.

Q.—Do you know Ferris, the hypnotist? A.—Yes. He gave me some instructions in hypnotism. I told him that I heard of some one exerting hypnotic influence over a young woman and I wanted to find out if it were so.

Q.—Why did you believe she was under such an influence? A.—I was interested in her and her reticence led me to believe she was under a hypnotic spell. She and I came from the same city, and I wanted to find out.

Q.—Had you any idea of the person who exerted the influence over this woman? A.—I had heard it was Stanford White.

Q.—The young woman was Miss Nesbit, was it not? A.—Yes.

Thought Evelyn Influenced.

Q.—I notice in some of your letters you speak of her as being hypnotized by White. Were you at that time, in 1903, of the opinion that White might have some mesmeric influence over her? A.—If I used the word hypnotism I did not mean it. I certainly believed White had a very strong influence over her.

Thaw said he first met Anthony Comstock in 1904. He had written to him, but no, since his trial.

"Have you lost interest in his institution?" Thaw laughed and replied: "I'm afraid I've given the matter little consideration since I was arrested. I have contributed nothing."

Jerome read to Thaw the testimony given at his trial by Doorman Lynch, and asked him if it were true. Thaw said he did not think it was entirely true.

"Then you sat there in court, a gentleman schooled in the meaning of noblesse oblige, and allowed your witness to commit perjury?" snapped Jerome.

Thaw appealed to Justice Mills, who directed him to answer.

"I did nothing of the sort. I told Mr. Littleton that the man was mixed up in his story at the first trial and ought to be straightened out. Mr. Littleton said he thought the man thought he was telling the truth, and after you used Hummel he did not believe he was doing anything wrong in letting his witness testify."

"What was the matter with Hummel?"

Calls Testimony False.

"I cannot tell you in detail, but if you will read his testimony I will point out to you what was wrong."

Jerome declined to read the testimony, whereupon Thaw said: "I think nearly all he swore to was false."

Q.—Wasn't the affidavit made by Evelyn Nesbit true? A.—That was obtained by what is called forgery in the third degree by Stanford White and Snedecker.

Q.—Didn't White know that you had beaten Ethel Thomas and put her in the bathtub? A.—If he knew anything about that matter he knew it was false.

Q.—How about Dillingham's story that he saw you beating her. A.—That was invented by White, who asked Dillingham to stand for it.

Q.—How about the suit brought against you by Miss Thomas? A.—There was no suit. I told them to come on; they didn't act.

Q.—Were there not like suits brought by other women? A.—No. None at all.

Q.—Didn't Evelyn Nesbit, after she became your wife, accuse you of these practices and tell you she could get a divorce on the ground that you were guilty of improper practices? A.—On the contrary, I heard something about that after we were separated.

Battle Over Letter.

Q.—Will you waive the privilege of confidential returns between man and wife and allow Mrs. Evelyn Thaw to take the stand and testify to these matters?

Thaw looked distressed. Morschauser came to his relief with an objection, and Thaw, recovering his composure, said: "I will not waive—I have seen a good many sorts of witnesses that you have produced against me."

Jerome showed Thaw a letter and asked if he had not written it to his wife. The witness asked Justice Mills if that was not a privileged communication. Morschauser and Jerome battled hard over the admission of the letter.

Jerome asked Thaw again if the letter and improper drawing on the paper were not made by him and another legal argument followed. Thaw sat throughout vigorously plying a palm leaf fan. When Justice Mills interjected a question to Jerome indicating that he might rule against the District Attorney Thaw sat up and showed keenest interest. Finally when Justice Mills ruled out the letter for the time he looked at Jerome and grinned.

Jerome changed his tactics and told the court that he would find another way to have the letter admitted. He intimated that Evelyn Thaw would be used as a witness to identify this document.

Morschauser opposed this plan. He argued that the letter was a confidential communication, and if Evelyn Thaw was used to have it admitted she would be violating just what the statute intended she should not. Justice Mills told Thaw's lawyer to give him authorities for his contention and he would rule on the admissibility of Evelyn's testimony later.

Thaw Says He is Sane.

Peter B. Olney was called. The witness said that he was a member of a commission named to ascertain if Thaw had sufficient mental capacity to understand the nature of the proceedings against him and aid in preparing his defence.

"Did you not have conversations with Mr. Thaw aside from those in the official report?" asked Morschauser.

"I did not," said the witness.

Thaw then resumed the stand and was asked by Jerome how long he had been in Matteawan. He said about eleven months, excluding the time he was in the Poughkeepsie and White Plains jails.

"Are you sane?" snapped Jerome.

"I am told so," replied Thaw, quickly.

Q.—Do you believe you are? A.—I accept the advice of those who told me.

Q.—Were you ever crazy? A.—Never medically.

Q.—Don't you think an examination would be a proper thing to determine your sanity? A.—I have been examined a number of times.

Q.—Why did you not let Drs. Lamb or Baker at Matteawan examine you? A.—They did examine me. During the first three months I was at Matteawan both doctors examined me. Both Lamb and Baker said they did not see any symptoms of mania, depression or any trace of paranoia.

"Crazy for Half Minute."

Q.—Do you know Dr. Allan McLean Hamilton? A.—Not well.

Q.—Mr. Delmas called him on the first trial, didn't he? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you heard him testify in open court that you were crazy, didn't you?

Morschauer was up with an objection which the court overruled after argument by Jerome that the widest latitude should be given to prove if it were safe to give the relator his liberty.

Thaw answered, "Yes," after being instructed by the court to reply to the question.

Q.—They engaged Dr. Hamilton to examine you A.—Yes, but he didn't examine me.

Q.—Why? A.—I didn't like his looks.

Q.—Were you ever crazy? A.—Once, for a half minute.

"When was that?" pressed Jerome relentlessly.

Thaw shrunk from the question. He hesitated and finally said: "On the roof of Madison Square Garden."

Q.—Were you crazy when you shot White? A.—I am told so.

Q.—Why did you kill White? A.—I was told he carried a gun. He glared at me and I thought he was going to kill me.

Q.—Was it because of personal hatred of White? A.—Yes.

Q.—Wasn't it because he ought to be put away? A.—There is no such thing as ought to be put away.

"No Justification of Killing."

Q.—Were you justified in killing him? A.—There is no justification for killing anybody.

Q.—Were you remorseful? A.—I regret it, of course. I don't think anyone has any more feelings about taking human life than I have.

Says He Has Been Crazy Only Half a Minute; Makes Good Showing Against Sharp Queries.

Q.—Then you think you did a wicked thing in killing this man? A.—Yes, I think so.

Q.—Why did you give up Mr. Delafield and Mr. Olcott? A.—Because they wanted to fix on a scheme to make me out insane.

Q.—Didn't they believe you to be insane? A.—I cannot say. They did not believe the stories I told them about White.

Q.—What stories about White's assault on Miss Nesbit and other girls? A.—Yes, particularly about the other girls and White having two places where he took girls to.

Q.—Have you any evidence that these stories were true? A.—No, no legal evidence.

Q.—Any moral evidence? A.—Yes.

Q.—What is it? A.—Why, what Mr. Comstock told me. He had investigated White's conduct and told me about it.

Q.—What did you leave Harvard University for? A.—Because I was not useful there. I and four or five others were told to go. We were studying an American subject that was not in the curriculum.

Q.—Wasn't it an immoral subject? A.—It was illegal but not immoral. It is what is commonly called poker.

Knows Susie Merrill.

Q.—Wasn't it because of improper practice? A.—No, I never heard of such.

Q.—You never heard about improper practices? A.—Yes, I heard a good deal about that subject from you in the last three years.

Q.—Do you know Susie Merrill? A.—Yes.

The Merrill woman, who formerly lived in Boston, testified Tuesday that she saw Thaw whip many girls, while he was rooming at her home.

Q.—Ever have rooms in her house? A.—No. I used to go to her house a great deal. I used to telephone to her, using the name of Reid.

Jerome asked Thaw about a woman in Aix les Bains, which caused him a great deal of amusement. He asked if that was the woman who had a little chalet there and said he was passing the place once, and by mistake knocked over a flower pot, breaking it. He threw the pieces back into the yard, which incident the owner of the flower pot made a great fuss over and greatly exaggerated it.

Thaw withstood the acid applied by Jerome remarkably well. He appeared at perfect ease throughout the examination and met the inquisitorial attacks of the District Attorney without giving ground.

Thaw Shows Confidence.

Occasionally when in doubt he turned to Justice Mills for advice which the latter gave him in a manner that appeared to inspire confidence in him.

When recess was taken Thaw was warmly congratulated by his attorney and the members of his family. His mother appeared overjoyed at the manner in which he had withstood the ordeal and grasping both his hands leaned over and whispered to him, nodding in approval of his conduct.

GREAT AERONAUTS MAKE NEW CONQUESTS

Eyes of the World Fixed on Daring Flyers of Two Hemispheres—Plans for Big International Races

Wright, Bleriot, Latham and Others Figure in Day's News—More Attempts to Break Records of the Air.

PARIS, July 28.—The eyes of all aviators and of the countless thousands who have been aroused to enthusiasm over the possibilities of heavier than air flying machines by M. Bleriot's triumphal flight over the English Channel as well as by the splendid performance of the Wright brothers, Henri Farman, Latham, Curtiss and others, are now turned toward Rheims, where on August 22 there will be opened the greatest aerostatic competition that the world has seen.

Every type of air craft known will be entered in the various events and probably every aviator of consequence in the world, with the exception of the Wright brothers, will try for the rich prizes, aggregating $40,000 in value, which will be hung up for record-breaking feats. Arrangements are being made to care for 100,000 visitors.

France undoubtedly will lead in the number of entrants, but America, Austria, England and Italy all will be represented by monoplane, biplane or balloon. Glen Curtiss, who recently made so successful tests in the neighborhood of New York, will carry America's colors in the contest with a biplane built on the lines of the Wright machines. Among the best known of the French aviators, in addition to Bleriot, who are to compete are Latham, De La Grange, Farman, Lambert, Tissandier and Santos Dumont. France alone already has entered seven contestants in the international aviation cup elimination event which will be held on the opening day of the meet. The three pilots making the best flights will be nominated by the Aero Club of France to represent it in the final flight the following day.

In addition to the big cup races there will be seven other different events. Five of these will be for aeroplanes, one for dirigible balloons and one for spherical balloons. The Grand Prix will carry a prize of $20,000, to be awarded among the first six aviators, and will extend over three days—August 22, 25 and 27. The winner will be the aviator who covers the greatest distance without renewal of fuel supply or without coming in contact with the ground.

LATHAM.

DOVER, July 27.—Telling his own story of yesterday's disastrous channel flight, Aeronaut Latham says: "It is another case of real hard luck. When I started, everything was rosy. The wind was just right and the rain was not a serious impediment. I flew to a height of 500 feet, and immediately felt confident that I would reach Dover. The splendid sensation of a coming triumph gripped me. I felt that victory was within my grasp at last.

"In ten minutes I must have gone at least eight miles. The coast seemed to grow, to loom clearer with every pulsation of the motor.

"Half-way across I felt there is Dover, clearly visible; I am going splendidly. I looked at the motor; all was right. Twenty minutes, I thought, and I shall be on those cliffs. I glanced around momentarily. Calais and its great tower were mere hazy lines; Dover was growing. I even thought I could see the people. Then, within three miles of the coast, I heard the sirens and hooters. My heart beat rapidly at the inexpressible feeling of a coming victory. I longed for the moment of descent.

"Then came the tragedy. I was only a mile and a half from the harbor mouth.

"A dead silence; the pulsations of the motor appeared to hesitate; they stopped. My speed slackened, the engine gave spasmodic throbs and then ceased. During these moments I had been gradually descending. At thirty feet above the water I drifted the an injured bird, fearing to alight, realizing that I had failed again.

"As luck would have it I struck the sea with comparative lightness, not with the special splash that accompanied my previous fall, although the descent was very rapid. My goggles struck a piece of the plane and cut my forehead. I was not anxious, as I knew that the machine would float for some time.

"Yet it appeared a long time before I was rescued."

STOWELL.

PITTSFIELD, July 28.—Miss Blanche E. Hulse, a New York nurse, to-day told the story of the thrilling and unparalleled air flight made by herself, Dr. Sydney S. Stowell of Pittsfield and John P. Manning of Pittsfield, when Dr. Stowell, at a height of over two miles, parachuted the balloon and caused the big bag to drop to the earth. It is the first time the feat has been accomplished in this country.

Asked how it feels to drop two miles to earth, Miss Hulse replied, "There isn't another sensation in the world to equal it."

Then she said:

"Such a drop was never made with a balloon before, I think, and it is the greatest sensation that can be imagined.

"Looking over the side of the bag, we saw the country below apparently sailing up to meet us. Forests and fields became slowly more and more distinct, winding ribbons of roads became plainly apparent and so interested were we enjoying the pleasant sensation that we forgot to look to earth that we scarcely noted the time before we were close to land again.

"As we neared the ground our decent was stopped by the trailing of the drag rope, 375 feet long, which caught in trees as we passed over. Closer and closer we drew to the earth till we sailed so close to a tall chestnut tree that we could reach out and clutch the branches. This I did, and gradually the balloon settled gently down into a pasture on the side of a hill."

WRIGHT.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—After making a new world's record by remaining up in the air for a stretch of one hour and 12 minutes 40 seconds, while carrying a passenger, Orville Wright prepared to add to his laurels to-day by making a brand new mark in speed at Fort Myer, Va.

By his recent flight at Fort Myer yesterday, while carrying Lieutenant Frank Lahm of the Signal Corps, U. S. A., in the presence of President Taft and other notables, in October for the prize of $5,000 offered by the Daily Mail. Field Marshal Earl Roberts, telegraphing his congratulations to Bleriot at the Ritz Hotel, said: "It is impossible to imagine the far-reaching effects of the feat. It may alter the whole great changes in the conduct of future wars."

VAN SLEET.

RUTLAND, Vt., July 28.—The balloon Massachusetts, which ascended from here with William Van Sleet of Pittsfield, Mass., as pilot, landed safely near the Gifford place in Barnard, eighteen miles northeast of here. The trip was without particular feature, the wind being very light. The highest elevation reached was 4,800 feet. The passengers were H. C. Carpenter, E. M. Wilson and C. H. West, local business men.

DE LAMBERT.

CALAIS, France, July 28.—Count de Lambert has postponed his attempt to fly across the English channel, his aeroplane being more badly damaged than was supposed during a trial flight yesterday.

SOMMER.

CHALONS-SUR-MARNE, France, July 28.—M. Sommer made an aeroplane flight here yesterday of one hour twenty-three minutes and thirty seconds.

ZEPPELIN.

FRIEDRICHSHAVEN, July 28.—Count Zeppelin made an ascension yesterday in his airship Zeppelin II, steering it himself. The weather was fine and there was no accident. The airship remained up for three hours. Representatives of the war office were on board. It is expected that the Zeppelin II. will succeed the Frankfort Zeppelin on Saturday. From there it will go to Cologne, where it will be sanctioned in the Military hall.

BLERIOT.

PARIS, July 28.—Bleriot, the aeronaut, was dined by the Aero Club at the Hotel Ritz last evening. It was announced that he or a client in a Bleriot monoplane would attempt to fly from London to Manchester

BURY FANNING AND WIFE IN TWIN GRAVES

WESTPORT, July 28.—Side by side, in twin graves, at Maple Grove Cemetery, not far from their pretty home where they spent three years of married life together, the bodies of Robert M. Fanning and his young wife, Tina Hall Fanning, were buried to-day, thus carrying out the last request of the wife-murderer and suicide.

While the funeral services were being conducted at their home the couple's eighteen months old child Rita played about the house unmindful of what was going on. Both caskets rested in the front parlor during the service. The casket in which the wife's body was placed was hermetically sealed. No relatives were allowed to look upon her face because of its mutilated condition, caused by the frenzied blows of the husband. Only relatives and a few personal friends attended the funeral.

It is likely that the Fanning baby will be cared for by his grandfather, Dennis Fanning, of No. 113 River street, Olneyville, R. I.

Another caretaker for the estate of George W. Hall, father of the dead woman, will be appointed soon by the Probate Court to take the place of the dead man, who was acting in that capacity. Mr. Hall is very old and unable to care for his property. He has no relatives.

RICORDI CANNOT BE DIRECTOR OF OPERA

Sig. Tito Ricordi, the head of the famous Milan house of that name, has written a letter to Henry Russell, director of the new Boston Opera House, in which he says he is unable to accept the invitation to become a member of the honorary advisory committee of the board of directors of the Boston Opera House.

FATALLY CLUB RICH HERMIT ON LONELY ROAD

The South Weymouth police are trying to run down robbers who fatally beat William A. Haneford of that town early today, swearing from the man, who is sixty years of age, several hundred dollars. It is not known how much the robbers got, but Haneford, who is known as a rich hermit, commonly carried from $300 to $400 in his pockets.

Haneford, who lived in a lonely little house near his piggery in the woods a half-mile from the North Abington road and a mile from the centre of the town, was found early to-day in his swill wagon. He was unconscious, and a blood-spattered baseball bat was found not far distant. He was rushed to Grace Hospital, this city. There it is reported that his skull was fractured.

Haneford's revolver, fully loaded, was found in a pocket and $1.27 in small change. His wallet, so familiar to South Weymouth stock raisers, had been taken from his pockets.

Haneford was attacked while driving to his lonely home along the half-mile lane that leads through the woods from the main road. A short time ago he was stoned by men hiding in bushes near the lane, but he drove his assailants off at that time by shooting at them.

Haneford was one of the best known characters in South Weymouth. He has lived there for years and is reputed to be worth much money, which he has made by raising pigs and trading horses. He has a wife and four children nearly grown, who live in Rockland. So far clews from the little affair in which the thrifty old miser met his death have not been followed and saved until his wealth is thought to run far into the thousands.

The case of Frank Hirschman, accused of the larceny of $6,860.48 in five counts by the American Trust Company of No. 53 State street, was continued again until August 10 by Judge Wentworth in the Municipal Court. Hirschman was in business in South Boston, and is accused of making false statements as to his concern's financial standing shortly before it assigned in order to get the money he is now charged with obtaining through larceny. His bail bond remains $20,000.

F. H. WHITTIER FILES PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY

Unable to realize on many mortgages and notes which he holds, Francis F. Whittier of No. 94 Harvard avenue, Brookline, a heavy dealer in real estate, to-day filed a petition in bankruptcy, giving his liabilities as $209,230.80, assets $82,805.75, and unsecured claims of $149,925. The assets include real estate on which a value of $81,500 is placed. Mr. Whittier is represented by Attorney J. Porter Russell of Boston.

"Mr. Whittier is a victim of misfortune," said Attorney Russell to-day. "He has been a large real estate dealer for many years and holds many mortgages and notes. He never recovered from the last financial depression, and interest and taxes have eaten up all that he had.

"He has turned in all his assets to satisfy his creditors, about $200,000 in all, and the unsecured claims are but a little more than $14,000."

There are eight secured creditors, who hold mortgages on real estate. They are: Winchendon Savings Bank, $40,000; Brookline Savings Bank, $22,000; Boston Penny Savings Bank, $28,000; Home Savings Bank of Boston, $6,000; Eliot Five Cents Savings Bank of Roxbury, $4,500; Newton Savings Bank, $15,000; Thomas R. Grigg of Brookline, $38,000; J. Franklin Paxon of Quincy, $8,375.

FINED FOR LOOTING FAMILY ICE CHEST

John Howard, No. 11 Upton street, was found guilty of robbing a refrigerator under the front steps of a South End house on July 19 by Judge Wentworth in the Municipal Court to-day and fined $15. Mrs. Margaret McMillan, who lives at No. 15 Appleton street, says he looted her larder of a big piece of roast beef, butter, lettuce and blackberries on the morning of July 19, and afterwards had effrontery to say to her: "That roast beef of yours was fine." Howard appealed from the fine and was held in $100.

FUNERAL OF JOHN LANE.

Rev. Charles Lane, S. J., assistant rector of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, celebrated the funeral mass of his father, John Lane, in St. Mary's Church, Charlestown, to-day. Mr. Lane was one of the best-known residents of Charlestown. Rev. Thomas I. Gasson, S. J., officiated as deacon. Burial was at Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

POLICE CAPT. LOWERY DIES AT STATION

Police Captain William J. Lowery of the City Point station died suddenly to-day at the station house from heart trouble. He was sixty-three years of age and lived at No. 36 Pratt street, Allston.

Captain Lowery was well known all over Boston. He went to the station house at 7:45 to-day and complained that he did not feel well. He lay down for a while. Pretty soon he rang his bell and Lieutenant Rich and some other policemen went to him. They found him suffering intensely and they summoned Dr. William J. Gallivan. He was partly unconscious by this time. He grew worse rapidly and in a short time died.

Captain "Bill" Lowery, as he was called, was born in Ireland. He had been on the force thirty-one years. He was made a captain six years ago, since which he had been in command of the City Point precinct.

PLASTERERS' UNION.

A special meeting of Boston Plasterers' Union, No. 10, will be held to-night at Paine Memorial Hall, Appleton street, South End, at which will be discussed the new wage schedule. The members of the union are desirous of compromising with the bosses for sixty-five cents an hour.

HUNT ELOPING WIFE AND HIS NEPHEW HERE

Boston, Lowell and Lawrence police are to-day searching everywhere to find the wife of a wealthy Cleveland, O., business man, Hine Simpson, who on July 21 fled from home with Edward Simpson, her nephew, and her little eight-year-old son, Willie.

Charging his nephew, who is a man of thirty-seven and whom he brought to this country and befriended, with enticing his wife from her home, Hine Simpson, the husband and father, is in Boston to-day, doing everything he can to find the elopers and his bright little boy.

"My wife has never been herself mentally since she underwent a serious operation some five years ago," declared Mr. Simpson to the police. "This nephew, Edward, who has a wife and four children in Westmoreland County, England, and whom I have helped support ever since he came to this country some ten months ago, took advantage of my wife's mental condition to induce her to leave me.

Lived in Family.

"He had worked in a worsted mill in Cleveland, where I got him a position and lived in my home as one of the family, free to go and come as he pleased. He had made friends while in Cleveland with Noble Howard, now an overseer in the Wood Worsted Mills in Lawrence. I knew that Howard once were Edward offering him a job there, if he ever needed one.

"When my wife left me, taking my boy Willie, Edward disappeared from Cleveland at the same time. They bought tickets to Lowell, but I believe that he was intending to seek employment in Lawrence. I secured Lowell and Lawrence in vain for the three and now I have sought help from the police here.

"My wife has been a great trouble ever since she fell ill five years ago. If the police find her and Simpson I will have alienists examine her. If they declare her irresponsible, as I believe she is, I will have her treated in a sanitarium. If she is sane I will prosecute her to the full extent of the law. The man I propose to push to the limit."

Friend of Lodge.

Hine Simpson is a personal friend to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and to Speaker Joseph G. Cannon of the House of Representatives. He is prominent politically in the Forest City, and is known as one of former Mayor Tom Johnson's most effective political enemies.

BOYS SENT AWAY FOR $300 THEFT

Harry Stewart, twelve years old, of No. 32 Decatur street, and George Freese, fifteen years old, of No. 67 Maverick street, were sent to the Suffolk School for Boys for the larceny of $300 from John Elias, a livery stable proprietor of No. 23 Green street, Revere, June 20. Both the boys were arrested at Revere Beach, spending money. Three other boys who were alleged to be implicated and their cases continued till August 25.

HELD FOR TWO THEFTS.

Samuel S. Stone, twenty-two, giving his home as Chelsea street, East Boston, was found guilty to-day in the Woburn District Court of two charges of larceny. It is alleged that on July 3 Stone went to the stores of T. P. Wilson in Winchester and Richard Noble in Woburn, collected money on goods which he said had been bought C. O. D. Three other bogus jobs were alleged to be implicated and their cases continued till August 25.

TAFT FIGHTS FOR A LOWER LUMBER DUTY

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Another hitch has occurred in the tariff conference which seems likely to delay the report for several days, at least, beyond to-morrow.

In order to bring the Western Senators in line for free hides, it was necessary for the conferees to retain the Senate duty of $1.50 on lumber. This trading of hides for lumber as a sop to the West is not only opposed by the President, but is objected to by the House. Members of the House have taken up the issue with the President and told him that the lower body will not agree to anything more than $1.25 on lumber. The President insists that the rate shall not be above this figure.

Neither is Mr. Taft satisfied with the higher rate on gloves and hosiery. It is these three articles which are now delaying the reaching of an agreement. The situation is complicated, in view of the fact that President Taft is supporting the House members in lower duties on lumber and opposing them in higher rates on gloves and hosiery.

The hide men counted noses again to-day and declared their belief that they have a majority of one against the adoption of the conference report containing free hides. They allow a gain of two progressive Senators, Brown and Burkett of Nebraska, and Senator McHenry of Louisiana for the report, and still believe they can muster one majority against it.

There is little likelihood that the Democratic members of the conference will be notified in conference this afternoon. If they are to have twenty-four hours to consider the report, it seems certain there will be a delay of one or two days.

Senators Lafollette of Wisconsin, Lorimer of Illinois, Bradley of Kentucky, Burrows of Michigan, and Representatives Smith and Underwood of Illinois, Foster of Pennsylvania, Bradley of New York, Young of Illinois, Brand and Hamilton of Michigan talked with the President to-day concerning the tariff duties.

LEATHER PEOPLE JUBILANT OVER TARIFF VICTORY

The local shoe and leather people were to-day feeling very cheerful over their great victory for free hides at Washington. In honor of the event one of the largest American flags ever displayed in the business section of Boston is flying above the headquarters of the New England Shoe and Leather Association, No. 141 Essex street. The twenty-seven by fifteen feet in dimensions. Congratulations are being exchanged.

At the New England Shoe and Leather Association headquarters it is understood that the hide and leather schedules to be finally voted will be as follows: Hides, free; calf skins, 7½ per cent.; dressed upper leather, 7½ per cent.; shoes made of hides, 10 per cent.; kid leather and cuttings, 15 per cent.

WOMAN FINED $50 ON LOTTERY CHARGE

Lottery and policy tickets hid in the sewing machine and stove of the house at No. 230 Wheeler street led Deputy Richardson before Judge Murray in the Municipal Court to-day, and after she pleaded guilty she was fined $50, which was paid. Sergeant Guard received a tip that lottery tickets were secreted in the Wheeler street house, and after a raid discovered the tickets secreted under the sewing machine cover and in the stove. The Richardson woman told the court that a caller must have placed them there.

WORLD RACER SEES A REAL KING AND QUEEN; WHITMAN MAKES TIME

By NATHAN SALLINGER.
Escort to Leo W. Sallinger, Boston American World Racer.

LONDON, July 20.—We missed our connections at Plymouth by a matter of a couple of hours, losing a week in our schedule, but were consoled to our fate, because the delay enabled us to see the King and Queen of England in London, in addition to spending a week sight-seeing in London, Paris and Versailles.

I don't know of a sight I've shall treasure as much as our short glimpse of royalty. Leo had read and heard of kings, queens, princes and the like, but never expected to see them in real flesh and blood. The King and Queen were inspecting the fire brigade when we saw them, and their escort. It was a great sight.

Got Great Reception.

It was a great reception we had aboard the Kronprinzessin Cecilie on the trip across. Captain Johnson was very much interested in us and promised to make a special effort for speed, though hampered by unexperienced voyagers. The heroes aboard the ship. We were scrutinized, pointed out, and all the courtesies due for world's wins about the record breaking trip around the world. Everyone volunteered information and advice.

The voyage as a whole was delightful, very little roll and weather perfect. We run across some schools of whales which was wonderful to Leo, as he saw the water spouting high in the air. We also saw schools of flying fish and porpoises.

Everything looked favorable for a good run, the Cecilie making 523 knots the first day, 543 the second, 540 the third, 544 the fourth, 546 the fifth, until Sunday, 25th, when we struck into a heavy fog set in. Captain Johnson stopped the ship for about one hour and then ran slow for about two hours when the fog cleared.

Captain Johnson reluctantly gave up hope.

We arrived at Plymouth about 6:30 a. m. Along came a tender with Mr. Flynn and Mr. Lambert, representatives of the Hearst newspapers, yelling for the American globe trotters. They recognized us immediately by our badges, and the newspaper photographers got busy snapping and flashing us on the deck of the gangplank. We were received most enthusiastically by Messrs. Flynn and Lambert.

Milo a Minute Clip.

We passed custom house inspection without any delay. Then we boarded the Great Western Railway train, accompanied all the way by Mr. Dowding, a special representative of the railway, who looked after our comfort and interested us about every detail as to the construction of the road. The cars are built lighter for speed purposes, our train hitting a 63-mile clip between Plymouth and London.

We never passed through a more beautiful country. Every bit of ground undercultivation and quaint little single houses with their little gardens in front. We arrived in London at Paddington Station and took autos for the Savoy and were assigned large and cheerful rooms facing the Thames.

As soon as we could we started seeing old London. We were very much surprised at every turn. The double-deck rubber-neck busses charge only one penny fares, the policeman called bobbies, the many old taverns and the numerous large hotels, two-wheel drays and mostly all the gentlemen wearing high hats and canes in the Summer time kept us gaping. We took an auto for a spin all over the town and came back and met several Americans, as this hostelry seems to be a favorite of the best American element.

Sight-Seeing in London.

The second day in London was spent visiting some of the government buildings, House of Parliament, Westminster Abbey with all its tombs of the different rulers of the British empire, Westminster school, chapter houses, telegraph list of members, buried A. D. 616, entered royal tombs, Henry VII. chapel and several others too numerous to mention. Visited the army and navy store, Ashley Gardens to Roman Catholic Cathedral. Climbed the tower, 432 steps; could see all over the bourgeois of London. Most wonderful. Then we visited Grosvenor Gardens, royal stables, Buckingham Palace, St. George's barracks, Dukes of Sutherland, Connaught and Marlborough. Rode through the Strand, Regent street, Piccadilly, Bond street and other noted places.

GLOBE GIRDLERS GET TO JAPAN IN 18 DAYS, CLIPPING OFF A DAY

YOKOHAMA, Japan, July 28 (8 a. m.).—Canadian Pacific's great steamer Empress of Japan broke record of the year and clipped a day from the schedule in coming here. Spent night here, will leave in ten minutes for Tsuruga to connect with Vladivostok. Confident of winning race. Am well and having great time.

WHITMAN.

The above cable from H. L. Whitman, who, with his escort, Dr. Rufus K. Noyes, makes the circumnavigation of the globe for the BOSTON AMERICAN, makes him look like the probable winner in the race around the world. He was over a day ahead of his schedule at Yokohama, and as a very exception, that at Berlin, none of his connections is very close, he should make the circuit of the earth in about forty-two days.

Accompanied by the Senes from New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, Whitman and his escort left Yokohama at 8:10 o'clock this morning. The railroad trip takes them through one of the most picturesque and beautiful parts of Japan and they will reach Tsuruga late this afternoon. Just an hour and forty minutes are allowed them in that port, long enough for a brief interview and refreshments before they must embark for Vladivostok. Whitman left Boston July 6, consuming just eighteen days in the flight to the land of the Mikado.

The eastward and westward bound teams, it now appears, may pass each other in the sea of Japan, instead of meeting at Vladivostok. The eastbound party is scheduled to sail from Yokohama for Vancouver on the same splendid steamer, the Empress of Japan, that broke the trans-Pacific record for the westbound race. An effort to break the eastbound record across the Pacific will be made.

MORE TAFTS FOR CAPITAL

By CHOLLY KNICKERBOCKER.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—There will be enough Tafts in Washington next Winter for the season to be known as the Taft season, for not only will the President be in the public eye, but several of his brothers. Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft are the latest to join the ranks in quest of a suitable residence for next Winter at the National Capital. Their household will be closely identified with the White House, and, judging from the style of residence they are seeking, they will take a prominent part in the Winter's gayeties.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Waters Taft will also be in Washington for the major part of the season. At the time of the inaugural ceremonies they occupied Colonel and Mrs. Archibald Hopkins's residence in the vicinity of Eighteenth street and Massachusetts avenue, which they leased for a brief period. Their daughter, Miss Louise Taft, will probably have a dance and a dinner or two given in her honor at the White House.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taft are spending the Summer at their cottage at Pulpit Rock, on Murray Bay, on the lower St. Lawrence, where there is a notable cottage colony, and where the President and Henry Taft also have villas. Some of their next neighbors are Mrs. Robert Minturn, Mrs. E. Tiffany Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Jose Ayman and Alfred Chapin.

FINES WOMAN WHO DIDN'T PAY CABBY

Mrs. Emma Edmister, a strikingly pretty woman, who told the police that she lives at No. 1 Winter street, Everett, was fined $15 for attempting to evade a carriage fare in the Charlestown Court today. Frank B. Chipman testified that Mrs. Edmister jumped into his cab in front of the Revere House. "I took the woman to all the big department stores and then to Cinatown, where she had luncheon," the cabman said. "Finally I was ordered to drive to the Charlestown Navy Yard. When we got there Mrs. Edister said that she couldn't pay the bill of $7.50. I told he rto jump into the carriage again. I drove her to the police station."

SALLIE FISHER POISON VICTIM

CHICAGO, July 28.—Miss Sallie Fisher, the comic opera star, is seriously ill at the Brevoort Hotel. Her physician has diagnosed the case as acute ptomaine poisoning. The trouble is traced to canned sardines eaten Saturday at rehearsal. Miss Fisher was taken ill on Sunday. Monday she became delirious and for many hours her life was in danger, but to-day her condition is considerably improved.

Although she will be unable to take part in the first ten trial performances of "The Goddess of Liberty," to be given in Milwaukee beginning Saturday evening, Miss Fisher hopes to appear August 10, when the company opens its Chicago engagement.

GASOLENE EXPLODES ON LAUNCH; 1 DEAD

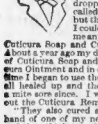
NEW YORK, July 28.—Thrilling rescues and one death followed the explosion early to-day of a gasolene tank in a launch containing seven men and a boy, as it was heading for a pier at Bergen Beach, Brooklyn.

Several hundred pleasure-seekers about to take the last car from the beach, saw the little boat suddenly transformed from a spick and span white craft into a sheet of flames. In another second they saw a man shrieking from pain, jump to the deck a mass of flames and leap overboard to escape. He was so terribly burned that he was unable to swim and was drowned.

ITCHED A YEAR: CURED IN A WEEK

Hands Cracked Open, Bled, Burned and Ached—Could Not Sleep nor Even Dress Himself—Professional Treatment Failed to Help Him.

MAN OF 70 OWES SKIN COMFORT TO CUTICURA



"I am a man seventy years old. My hands were very sore and cracked open on the inside for over a year with large sores. They would crack open and bleed, itch, burn and ache so that I could not sleep and could do but little work. They were so bad that I could not dress myself in the morning. They would bleed and the blood dropped on the floor. I called on two doctors, but they did me no good. I could get nothing to do me any good till I got the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. About a year ago my daughter got a cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in one week from the time I began to use them my hands were all healed up and they have not been a sore since. I would not be without the Cuticura Remedies.

"They also cured a bad sore on the hand of one of my neighbor's children and they think very highly of the Cuticura Remedies. John W. Hanly, So. Effingham, N. H., Mar. 5 and Apr. 11, '09."

For Baby's Skin

Mock Picture of Former Sultan Makes Sensation

Portrait of Abdul Hamid of Turkey formed of figures of occupants of his harem and a moonlight view of Stamboul.

PARIS, July 28.—A remarkable mock portrait of the deposed Sultan of Turkey is one of the artistic curiosities of the day.

It is based on the time-honored deceptive picture which at a little distance looks like a human skull, and which when regarded closely resolves itself into a man and a woman seated in an opera box.

In the present case the picture, held at a distance or at a certain angle, looks like a finely drawn portrait of Abdul Hamid. Inspected closely it is found to be a composite picture, the features of the Red Sultan being made up of absolutely posed hourls of the harem—the great hawk's beak of a nose being the back of a woman, the deep-set eye her head, the beard the draperies of the woman, and the hollows of the pallid face made by other heads, figures and draperies.

The well-known fex is found on close scrutiny to be a moonlit picture of Stamboul. The picture is selling by the tens of thousands.

IMMIGRATION STATION SOON

Work on the new $250,000 Immigration station will begin at Jeffries Point, East Boston, within six weeks, if the present plans of the Boston officials mature. All that is to be done before the work is commenced is an examination of the land titles upon which the government has options and their transfer.

Colonel George B. Billings, immigration commissioner at Boston, said to-day that he has secured options on 15,000 feet of land from the Jeffries Point Yacht Club, with 37,000 feet of flats in front which can be filled in. He has also secured options on 18,000 feet of land adjoining the yacht club property, located between Marginal and Sumner streets.

The immigration officials in Boston are highly pleased at the site selected for the new station.

TWO FATALLY HURT BY "JOY RIDERS"

NEW YORK, July 28.—Two young men were mortally injured and a third man was bruised and cut early to-day when a red Locomobile containing four or five screaming women raced down Seventh avenue. George H. Clarke of No. 325 West Twenty-first street and Frank McCabe of No. 201 East Forty-seventh street were crossing the avenue at Twenty-sixth street when the machine swooped down upon them. Both men were hurled to one side of the street and a third man was struck. Clarke and McCabe will die.

ALLOW REYES TO QUIT.

BOGOTA, July 28.—The resignation of President Reyes was presented to the Colombian Senate to-day and unanimously accepted. August 3 was fixed as the date for the election of his successor.

$10 PRIZE FOR HOW TO MAKE CHOWDER

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

In these any place in Boston or nearby territory where I can get some real clam chowder? I am an old New Englander, but have been absent from Boston for several years. In my early days I could get clam chowder in any one of fifty places in and around Boston that was worth pacing a street journey to get. It was real chowder. There were real clams in it.

But, unfortunately, I don't seem to be able to get anything that resembles real chowder now. Will some of the AMERICAN readers oblige me by naming places where I can get the real article?

My mother had a recipe for making clam chowder, and it was one of the most delicious dishes I ever tasted. I don't know how chowder should be made, but I am willing to put it to the test. I will give $5 for the best recipe for making genuine clam chowder that is sent to my address below.

JUDITH T. HICKS.
American Office, Boston.

This seems to be a Macedonian cry for help from Mr. Hicks. The AMERICAN urges its readers to assist him. If the clam chowder furnished in Boston is really not clam chowder at all the sooner we know about it the better. And to stimulate interest in the gathering in of recipes the AMERICAN will give an additional $5 reward or $5 for the second best recipe. Here is a chance for young and old housewives, cooks, waiters, restaurant men—anybody and everybody to come in and tell just how to make good clam chowder. Come on with your recipes, people!

BAY STATE YACHT STOLEN AT NEWPORT

THOUSANDS TAKE PART IN SALEM'S OLD HOME WEEK CELEBRATIONS

SALEM, July 28.—Salem, in all of her long and eventful history has rarely seen a greater day than this. This afternoon the great military and civic parade, thousands strong, marched through the city's streets to the music of many bands. Thousands lined the sidewalks on the route of parade, while every window was filled with spectators.

Officials of the nation, State and city reviewed the parade, and to-night are to be guests at a mammoth banquet in the State armory.

During the parade and in fact all afternoon business was suspended, and every citizen of Salem practically took some part in to-day's celebration of Old Home Week. Buildings along the route of the parade were all gay with bunting and flags.

Mayor is Chief Marshal.

There was a great crush of people here, for all railroads and street car lines did a heavy business from early morning. The parade in two divisions started when the fire alarm bells in the Common gave the signal. Military, civic, collegiate and fraternal organizations were in the line, as well as details from the city departments. Mayor John F. Hurley was chief marshal and Brigadier-General William Stedford chief of staff.

The route of the parade was: Washington square, east, Essex street, Central, Lafayette, Washington, Summer, Chestnut, Pilot, Federal, Washington, passing in front of the reviewing officers of the city government at City Hall; thence to Essex and Washington squares, where it was reviewed by Mayor Hurley and the officers of the reviewing stand.

The columns formed as follows: Platoon of police, mounted staff of fifty, Salem Cadet Band, Second Corps of Cadets Company B, Flighth Regiment, acting as escort to carriages containing officers of the National Salem, members of city government and invited guests.

Brig.-Gen. William Stedford, chief marshal; mounted staff of twenty, Salem Brass Band, Fifth Sheridan Post No. 34, G. A. R., float of Ladies' Naval Veterans Association; Salem Commandery, U. R. K. of P., Witch City Aerie of Eagles, Spanish War Veterans, Society of Saint Jean Baptiste, Council Laurier, French Young Men's Catholic Association, Polish National Alliance, A. O. U. W. float, City Orphans Asylum float, Fr. Mathew Temperance Society, Divisions 5 and 18, A. O. H., and Conway Court of Foresters.

Division of Floats.

The second division, in charge of Marshal David T. Whelton, included 100 floats and entries of the Merchants' Association and individual exhibitors.

The third division, under Marshal Albert Pierce, was made up of detachments from the city departments.

At the great banquet in the State armory at 8 p. m., among the invited guests will be Governor Eben S. Draper, Lieutenant-Governor Louis A. Frothingham, former Governor John L. Bates, Senators Lodge and Crane, Secretary of the Navy George L. von Meyer, Congressman Augustus P. Gardner, State Senator Clifford B. Bray, Lieutenant Rogers Williams, commander of the President's yacht, Sylph, and the mayors of Beverly, Gloucester, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lynn and Newburyport. Colonel J. Frank Dalton will be toastmaster.

CRAB BITES TOE OF WOMAN BATHER

While Mrs. Anna Pillsbury of No. 154 West Concord street was bathing at Marine Park, South Boston, she interrupted the serenity of a crab and is now in the City Hospital. The crab settled his claws about one of Mrs. Pillsbury's toes, the pain causing her to become hysterical. She would have drowned but for the prompt work of Captain Emmanuel DePeritas of the Volunteer Life Saving Corps, who dragged her from the surf. She was treated at the emergency room. Head Doctor Bosworth says her condition was so serious that she was removed to the City Hospital.

Heat that makes complete

RED SOX AFTER FINAL GAME WITH N. Y. HIGHLANDERS

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

DOUBLE-HEADER ON TO-DAY FOR DOVES AND GIANTS

NEW RED SOX PITCHERS ON HAND FOR DUTY

Scout Patsey Donovan of the Red Sox arrived home to-day with Pitchers Eddie Karger and Charley Hall in tow. The trio came from Louisville, where the two players had been with the St. Paul club from which club the Red Sox secured them. Both are fit and ready to go in the box whenever Manager Lake says the word.

"I believe both men will make good. Griffith, manager of the Cincinnati club, let Karger go for some reason or other, and I kept my eye on him as he began pitching for St. Paul. He has won nine or ten out of the twelve games he has pitched. He is a very hard man to score a run off of, and I believe he will fit in nicely with the Red Sox.

"Charlie Hall came originally from the Coast. He was picked up by a Cincinnati scout and after a tryout with the Reds they let him go to Columbus. Then he drifted to St. Paul, where he was when I found him. He has lots of speed, a good curve ball and a slow ball; in fact, everything that a pitcher needs. The Red Sox needed pitchers badly as only a few of the big staff Manager Lake had were making good."

Joe Bean, another Red Sox scout, who has been looking at players in the South, also returned to town and was at the club office to-day. He seconded Donovan's good opinion of Hall, whom he has seen work many times.

The Red Sox return home to-morrow and open with the St. Louis Browns. On Friday there will be a double-header.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD MADE WITH RIFLES

WAKEFIELD, July 28.—In the morning shooting at the Bay State range in the annual tournament of the New England Military Rifle Association the second Connecticut Regiment made a new world's record of 501 in the Bancroft match, which was at 200 yards, rapid fire, and 600 yards, slow fire.

The Sixth Massachusetts Regiment forced the winners to the record, as at the close of the 200 yards shooting they were only five points in the rear, while at 600 yards the were beaten by only four points, getting a total of 492. The First New Hampshire Regiment came third with 477. The summary:

BANCROFT MATCH.

	200 Yds.	600 Yds.	Total.
Second Connecticut Regiment	221	280	501
Sixth Massachusetts Regiment	216	276	492
First New Hampshire Regiment	202	275	477

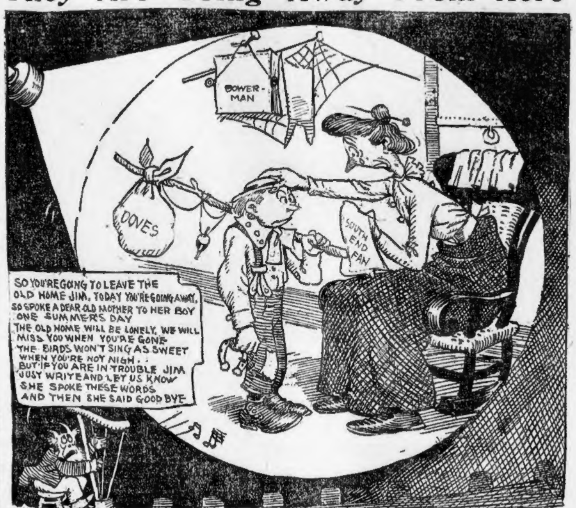
They Are Going Away From Here



PHILLIES IN BAD MIX IN DONLIN DEAL

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—In a situation unparalleled in baseball, the Philadelphia club has made itself the laughing stock of the country. It has gone on record as repudiating Manager Murray, yet it finds itself powerless to oust him.

Murray, who was officially read out of the team Saturday, is still on the job and asserts that there is no chance for Mike Donlin to come to the Phillies in exchange for Sherwood Magee, the team's star outfielder. Moreover, the Phillies will leave for the West to-morrow night in sole charge of Murray.

The attempt of the stockholders to make Mr. Isman the butt of the muddle is hardly compatible with the facts in the case, for an official of the club made the announcement that the change had been decided upon.

That official was Secretary Shettsline, who informed the reporters Saturday that the club owners had asked Mr. Murray for his resignation and was negotiating for the release of Mike Donlin, who was wanted as his successor. He added that the Quakers would give Magee and a pitcher to land Donlin.

As conditions now stand, Murray is almost certain to continue as manager for this year, at least, and Donlin has no chance of coming here in exchange for Magee as long as Murray is at the helm.

Public sentiment has turned toward Murray since some of the unsavory angles of the attempted deal have come to light. It undoubtedly favors the retention of Magee, who has been applauded warmly every time he has come to bat since the first stories were printed.

The blundering of the officers has undoubtedly hurt the prestige of the club, for it can hardly expect the rooters to have any confidence in it after such tactics of amateur magnates. The only person who rises out of the muddle with any credit to himself is William Murray.

SPEED STARS TO COMPETE AT REVERE

The first professional Marathon race of the season will be held next Saturday evening at the Revere track, and judging by the entries so far received the race will savor of an international affair, for already there are entered three Indians, two Irishmen, one Italian, a Canadian, a Swede, a German and several Americans. The race will be over the full course, twenty-six miles, 385 yards, on the ten-lap track. It will be open to any and all runners, the entries closing at the post.

Among the runners entered already are, Pat Dineen of South Boston, William Prouty of Jamaica Plain, W. Davis, Indian; Tallfeather, also an Indian; Al Raines of New York, the ex-amateur; Hugh Brusse of Pittsburg, Matt Maloney of New York, Pat White of Ireland, Hands Holmes of Canada, Henry Sweeney of Cambridge, Black Hawk, the famous Indian; W. Feeney of Brooklyn, Rudolph Anderson of Sweden, F. H. Kellar of Germany, and John J. Goff of Cambridge, who will run his first professional race.

BREAKING TRACK RECORDS.

Major Mallow, 2:05½, did some smashing of half-mile track records before hitting the Grand Circuit. His latest achievements were a mile in 2:06¼ at Wheeling and one in 2:07½ at Canton. His Wheeling mile is the State record.

Notes of the Doves' Game

In the eighth round of the initial contest Beaumont made a dandy diving catch of Bridwell's low liner.

* * *

Coffey pulled off a hair-raising stop off Wiltse in the sixth session of the first game, but he was in such an awkward position that he made a bad throw to Stem, and the runner was safe.

* * *

In the opening inning of the last game Stem made a peachy stop off Doyle and robbed him of a sure hit.

* * *

At the start of the second inning of the second contest, Thomas made a curious fumble off O'Hara. The misplay cost a run.

* * *

It was lucky that Big Chief Meyers, who caught the second game for the Giants, wore all his shin armor, for he caught a foul tip on his knee which would certainly have done damage had he not been well protected.

* * *

Murray had on his running clothes in the second game, and after getting a single, stole second, and then third.

* * *

Peaches Graham put in a strenuous objection that Larry Doyle had hit him in the shin by throwing his bat. This is an offence for which a player can be put out of the game. Emslie wouldn't let Graham's kick stand. Larry is a "bat flinger," and has been canned on three occasions this season.

* * *

Mathewson held the Doves' hitters for three innings. Then Becker poled one to left field, and Coffey beat a bunt, thus getting another hit off Matty.

* * *

When Umpire Johnston announced the batteries of the second game, the fans cheered heartily, not for Mr. Johnston, but for Christy Mathewson, who was announced as the twirler for the Giants. This is the first time Matty has worked in Boston this season.

* * *

The Doves pounded out fourteen hits for a total of twenty-one bases in the opening game. Some fattening of the batting averages, huh?

* * *

Christy Mathewson didn't pitch any wonderful game, for he was hit just as hard as were the Dove twirlers. However, he had it on them in that he kept his hits scattered. He won his game, and that's all he cares about.

INVADE THE BLUE GRASS.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 28.—The Philadelphia National League club has purchased Pitcher Fred Toney from the Winchester, Ky., Bluegrass League team, provided Philadelphia, in August, shows signs of finishing in the first division. Toney pitched nineteen successive winning games. He also pitched a seventeen-inning game without allowing a hit.

SAVAGE KNOCKED OUT.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Johnny Waltz of Jersey lived up to his name at Brown's Gym by just waltzing around Colonel Bill Brown's squared circles for nine rounds with Dan Savage, another Jerseyite, and then knocking him out. Up to the ninth round Savage had all the better of it.

BROOKLYN GETS WAUGH.

MACON, Ga., July 28.—James Vaugh, leading left-handed pitcher of the Macon South Atlantic League team, has been sold to Brooklyn for $1,500. He will report at once.

FIGHTERS HAVE FORFEITS UP

That will be a great heavy-weight battle at Salem Friday night when Porkey Flynn of Boston meets Mickey McDonough of Brooklyn, N. Y., and the Witch City never saw a bout with such class in it. Flynn is now a full-fledged main bout performer, winning his way there by putting his opponents away by the short route. Salem fans have seen McDonough perform before and know how he is rated. Both fighters have posted their forfeits, so will surely be on deck to go the twelve round distance.

Flynn has not yet been beaten since he got in the limelight last Winter and has no idea of letting the New Yorker take any ring laurels away from him at this stage of his career.

Besides the two preliminaries there will be an attraction in the shape of a battle between two sailors from the U. S. S. Salem, which will be for blood.

"Ducky" Holmes has taken the job of scouting for one of the big league teams which is now a contender in the pennant scrap and will spend considerable time looking over players in the Western League. The old time practice of leaving this to "coaches" and others has about disappeared. Too many gold bricks purchased is the reason.

Clarke Griffith is positive that the Reds will finish in the first division this season. "I will not win the pennant, but we will be in the running," is the way that Griffith talks. "Tootsie" Hofman, brother of Artie, the centre-fielder of the Cubs, has been sold by Murphy to the New Orleans club. All of the National League clubs waived on this promising player.

* * *

While several papers have been claiming that the Cleveland club has secured First Baseman Hugh Bradley of the Worcester team of the New England League, Manager Fred Lake has closed a deal for this player, and he reports to the Red Sox at the end of the New England playing season. Jess Burkett needs his first baseman's services at present in an effort to keep Worcester in the pennant race.

* * *

Jesse Tannehill, the former Washington pitcher, who refused to go to Washington in exchange for Collins, dislocated his shoulder while trying to fish from a tree at Dayton, Ky.

* * *

Infielder Louis Miller of the Anderson (N. C.) club has been suspended by the National Association of Minor Leagues, according to a late bulletin. Miller is a brother of Jack Miller, the Pittsburg second sacker.

* * *

George Moriarty of Detroit has made five attempts to steal home this year. In three of his five attempts he was successful. He tried the trick the other day, but Oscar Stanage didn't catch his signal, and incidentally blocked him as he was coming to the plate. While George Mullin was at the bat in the second inning Saturday Moriarty sprinted from third to the plate, while Brockett held the ball. The throw to Kleinow was high, and Moriarty was over the plate before Kleinow touched him.

* * *

George McBride, who was with Pittsburg for a short time, is now classed one of the best shortfielders in the American League. This boy has all kinds of natural speed, fields sensationally, is a clever baserunner and has been showing improved stickwork.

* * *

Whatsermatterwiththecubs? Not a thing. A year ago to-day they had won forty-six and lost thirty-three games. Compare that with their present standing and see how seriously the loss of Johnny Kling has affected the world's champions. The matter with them seems to be located in Pittsburg just now.

BACK TO THE BUSH.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 28.—Negotiations pending for some time have been completed with the Philadelphia Americans whereby Infielder Barr will report at once to the Atlanta pennant aspirants.

The deal is in connection with a trade for Pitcher Atkins, who goes from Atlanta to Philadelphia at the end of the season, touted as the best southpaw in the Southern Association.

PIRATE SCOUT IN WEST.

ABERDEEN, Wash., July 28.—A deal has been closed for the sale of Outfielder Vincent Campbell of the Aberdeen club in the Northwest League to the Pittsburg Nationals. It is understood here that Pittsburg has made an offer of $3,500 for Henry Pernell, the crack left-handed pitcher of the local team.

The AMERICAN is the Great Home Paper.

JACK HOEY TRADED.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, July 28.—Allie Boucher of North Attleboro is to play with the St. Paul Club of the American Association. He has been traded by the Little Rock club for Jack Hoey, the old Holy Cross man and former Boston American outfielder.

BIG CROWD SEES DRAW.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Before the best house in the history of the Douglas A. C., Johnny Willetts and Young Loughrey fought six hard rounds and at the finish there was little to choose between them.

Horrors! Poor Little Jeff Drops Out of a Four-Story Window

HOODOO STILL FOLLOWS FRANK BOWERMAN

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 28.—Frank Bowerman, former manager of the Boston Nationals, is now with the Indianapolis team, champions of the American Association in 1908. He caught yesterday afternoon in the game against Minneapolis, and the hoodoo which followed him so successfully during his sojourn in Boston is still on the job, as the champions lost the game to the Millers.

The advent of the former Bostonian was a surprise to the local fans and he will undoubtedly be a great help in getting the team back among those fighting for the leadership.

Indianapolis is now in last position, but the race is so close that the tail enders can get to the head of the procession by winning three or four games in succession.

Bowerman will undoubtedly feel perfectly at home in his new job, as the Indianapolis club is looked on as the Mecca for old time big leaguers who have found the major organizations to speedy for them.

The club is owned by W. H. Watkins, an old time National League manager, and Charley Carr, formerly a big league star, is manager. Perry Werden, first baseman of Anson's Colts, is official coach of the team and a sort of assistant to Carr.

Monte Cross, long years ago with Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and at that time the crack shortstop of the country, is alternating with a youngster named Hopke in the short field.

Until recently Cross has been manager of George Tebeau's Kansas City team. Another ex-Pebeau manager and former ballplayer who is on the Indianapolis team is Jimmy Burke, who last year managed Louisville. Burke has been playing third base until recently, when he took to slump in his hitting, and since then has been on the bench.

Bowerman says he is pleased with the chance to play here, and that the pleasure is greatly enhanced by finding so many of his old time friends on the team. After the game last night the old timers got together and held a regular old fashioned chasing bee.

AFRAID OF BARD ALLERTON.

Frank Hayden gave out that El Gale, 2:16¼, was off form, as the reason that he did not start him in the early races. However, it is noticed that just as soon as Frank Fox got out of his way with Bard Allerton, 2:16½, Hayden took the word with El Gale and handed the summary.

The AMERICAN is the Great Home Paper.

2 MORE CARS FAIL TO KEEP SCORES CLEAN

By J. C. KERRISON.

HUGO, Col., July 28.—There now remain but eleven clear-score cars in the A. A. A. tour, two having fallen from grace during the drive from Denver to this little side-track station. One of these was the White kerosene steamer, which was considered one of the strongest claimants for hidden honors among the clear-score cars, and the other was the American Simplex, which was the only clear-score car in the Detroit trophy class.

The White lost her perfect number not yet officially determined upon by the control committee, owing to her getting dirty water into the water tank, and preventing her doing her best.

The water secured at one of the points on the trails was particularly heinous, and although care was taken to prevent dirt from entering the tank, it was impossible, and fully an hour and a half was lost in running the ingredients through the engine.

Notwithstanding this delay the White arrived at the control but sixteen minutes late, and was penalized but two and a-half points for repairing lubricator accordingly.

The American Simplex suffered penalizations as a result of conditions not entirely her own. About twenty miles east of Colorado Springs, while apparently following the confetti, she ran into a irrigation ditch some six feet deep and about as wide.

The front wheels went down and the car became wedged tightly behind the Simplex was the Studebaker press car, carrying the flag of the BOSTON AMERICAN and driven by Ronald McIntosh.

The crew got to work and eventually brought the car out of the ditch. The only thing damaged was the radiator, which sprung a leak. This was closed in well as possible by the liberal use of soap, and the car dashed on to the finish, reaching here on time. These were the only two changes made in the competitors.

SAM KERR HAS FAST COLT.

There is a two-year-old colt at Readville, sired by Bertlot, 2:22¾, that will bear watching. He has recently been taken to the track and started up for the first time, trotted an eighth easily in :16 seconds, a 2:24 gait. The colt is owned by Sam Kerr, who is well known to New England horsemen and selected the colt at Allen farm last season.

BOSTON TROTTER WINNING.

Kim, 2:17¾, the gelding which Frank G. Hall of Boston sold to James A. Murphy not long ago is making good use of his New York speedway. He has defeated some of the best trotters that appeared there.

STRAIGHT DOPE

FOR SPORT FANS

THIS IS THE DAY JEFF HAS promised to get busy in New York and say something definite about that little affair with Jack Johnson. Will he come across with the right kind of talk and square himself with a long-suffering public which is willing to worship at the shrine as of yore if the big fellow can convince it that the glint of the yellow coins is not the big smoke with him? In Jeff's case the only right kind of talk is the posting of a substantial forfeit, all in real money.

I WONDER IF THAT BOSS gambler who infests the third base bleachers was afraid I would really have a picture of him made for the benefit of the police, as I remembered to do yesterday. The photographer was on hand, all right, but the boss gambler failed to show up for the first time within the memory of this year's fans. Probably too busy with his hand book down in Haymarket place. By the way, the police made no arrests yesterday at the ball game.

Beverly, Mass., July 28.

Straight Dope, Boston American:

Please tell me who Jeff Sparrow is not an Italian and his real name Tony Mazzeo.

Are you trying to kid some one, Sport, or is it Danvers instead of Beverly that you make your home? You marker has a harp tattooed on each shoulder and a shamrock on his breast, and while the map on his dial is not intended to make you take one peek you could name the island he came from, more power to the old sport.

I HAVE BEEN ASKED TO PRINT the following, but fail to see where it belongs on this page, unless the ownership of pale blue pajamas and a Boston terrier is considered sporty:

Personal—Will the man lately who noticed tall, handsome gentleman in pale blue pajamas and terrier, at small hours of morning on Massachusetts avenue and Shawmut avenue about 3 o'clock yesterday morning please write.

The address of the pale blue pajaman can be secured by application to the Straight Dope Editor.

Sport Dope, Boston American:

I am a reader of your paper, the Boston American, and have read Mr. Keeler's notes in New York, Chicago and San Francisco and am much interested in the sporting outlook. Now, I am willing to wager $100.00 to anyone to Jeffries, demand for $100.00 posted with you to split Johnson. I must say that Jeffries is a little too greedy and say that he didn't care about Johnson's share. Now I believe this way in sporting circles that as a follower of sports that we should get what is due him, and that is the $100.00 alone.

By right Johnson is the recognized champion heavy-weight of the world and he should do the dictating and not Jeff. Although I should like to see Jeff win him, at the same time, I would like to see Jack get well paid for losing his title and also a beating if such were the case.

I always liked Jeff, but of late he is handing out the talk to the public too much. He would be liked much better if he would put up or shut up.

Kindly publish my opinion in the afternoon edition of the Boston American, and I think there are a whole lot who will side with me. Hoping you will answer my request, I remain, yours truly, R. A. Spegel.

Boston, Mass.

I WONDER IF THAT BOSS gambler who infests the third base bleachers was afraid I would really have a picture of him made for the benefit of the police, as I remembered to do yesterday. HELP! HELP! OR I SHALL ESCAPE! I was seeking a little straight dope the other day as to the identity of "Young Johnson," who pushed Gunner Mohr into the discard over on the other side, and two morning paper dopesters rushed to the rescue, but are still guessing. Here is "Dear Bob's" question and answer:

Dear Bob: Who is Young Johnson of American League ball club? Ought Sunday's game to tell.

Young Johnson is none other than Dick Rudolph, the boxer of New York. The only fair man he ever beat was Griff Jones.

Pipe business, right off the reel, but Arthur has it doped out differently. Here is his:

Is Young Johnson, who knocked out Gunner Moor recently in England, Dale Grant, of Ohio?

No. Grant is white, and Young Johnson is black.

Now, won't someone please tell me? Who is Young Johnson?

Straight Dope, Boston American:

Dear Sir—Please settle a bet. Give number of stolen bases by Collins of Athletics to July 1 as soon as possible, and oblige.

Charlestown. P. J. F.

Up to and including July 9 Collins had twenty-one stolen bases to his credit.

Straight Dope, Boston American:

Will you please tell me if a fellow by the name of Henry Rondeau has played with the Boston professional? I want to know, as I have got a big bet on that he has played with them. Yours truly, a fan. W. H. H.

You'll have to keep closer tab on the sport page or your money will keep on being a gift to some one who does. Rondeau is an outfielder on the Worcester team in the New England League. He has been secured by the Red Sox but will not join them until the close of the New England League season.

Straight Dope, Boston American:

Will you kindly answer the following question in the sporting paper, viz., Who is the champion (sporting streak) Please send me the paper. Yours truly,

J. A. Bolger,

U. S. S. New Jersey.

Care Postmaster, New York.

Mullin lost his first game to the Athletics.

IN PHILADELPHIA THE PREDICTION is heard that the world's championship series this Fall will be played by the Athletics and the Pittsburgs and that the fastest arenas in the country, Shibe Park and Forbes Park, will be tested to the limit of their capacity. The Detroit Tigers and the Chicago Cubs, however, have not given up hope yet in spite of the great display of confidence in the two leading cities of Pennsylvania; and the Red Sox may cut in with a few remarks. There's nothing sure in the national game.

FRAYNE TO BOX DICK HYLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Promoter Coffroth has arranged a match for October 9 between Abe Attell and "Ad" Wolgast for the featherweight championship of the world. The men are to weigh 122 pounds ringside. Wolgast agrees to twenty or twenty-five rounds and any split of the purse that Attell may desire.

HOTELS TURN DOWN JACK JOHNSON

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 28.—Jack Johnson, the negro fighter, in an automobile, drove to a local hotel last night and asked for a room. "We are all full," said the clerk; and Johnson, after protesting, returned to his car and began a search for another hotel. He was turned down at several first-class hotels, and at last reports was still looking for a place to stay.

Johnson came from Chicago, and left early this morning for Detroit to attend the races.

HORSEWOMAN SUES TRACK.

A Supreme Court action has been instituted against the Franklin County Agricultural Society of Malone, N. Y., by Mrs. Minnie Fisher of New York, to recover $25,000 damages for personal injuries sustained while performing with the Demarest Running Combination, at the Malone Fair in September, 1908. She alleges negligence on the part of the society in not placing a barrier at the track gate.

GOLF GOSSIP

NEWS OF THE LINKS

One of the most energetic members at the Woodland Golf Club had rather a strange accident happen while playing the fourteenth hole recently. His ball overran the green to the long grass that marks the edge, and when he attempted to get it back onto the green again great was his surprise to see two balls come first. Up, when he made the shot with a deep lofted mashie. One ball landed just beyond the hole, while the other was just short. Someone else had lost a ball evidently, and this second players' ball had nestled in on top of it and in the deep grass it was impossible to detect the presence of a second ball. In all probability an occurrance of the sort would not happen again in a thousand years.

Miss Constance Righter and Walter S. Watt of Bryn Mawr are establishing quite a reputation as mixed foursome players at this course. Recently they had a very fine card of eighty-eight that is pretty close to the record for the course, and incidentally they defeated Mr. and Mrs. Newell also of the Bryn Barra by a good margin.

One of the Press golfers appeared during the latter part of the round in his bare feet and was proudly exhibiting his sore toes to an admiring throng in the clubhouse piazza when the last hold was reached. It was one of those things that caused this pitiable condition, but merely the fact that he plays with tennis boots on, so of cause the cause of the trouble. Many of the golfers at the clubhouse who witnessed this feat of hardihood and fortitude went over to the last hole to see him hole four putts.

The Allston Golf Club always presents more or less the aspect of a home, as no matter what time you pass there in the evening a light is always showing in one of the windows, telling one that there is some one enjoying the diversions that the club affords. Pool, billiards, bowling and bridge are the most popular forms of amusement when golf and tennis is impossible on account of the darkening shadows.

BOXING

BITS OF NEWS

Al Kaufman wants to box Ketchel to a finish, winner take all of the latter's title and Hawaiian throne. Al is tired of hearing that talk of him being put away in a cage by Ketchel. Kaufman is willing to let him try. It is not likely that Britt will agree to any match, though, as Coffroth is going ahead with the Johnson-Ketchel match.

Johnny Frayne's dad won $300 on the Corbett fight and the latter put a slice of the money and other jewelry, the same night. Pa Frayne was seen to buy a diamond for his son and a ring for near the arena. The third was a woman, and they are still hunting for her.

Heine Rafael accepted an offer for Frayne to box Corbett, but the terms did not suit Tom Jones, manager for Wolgast, and the go was off, Rafael will box Jeffries in Los Angeles, but Rafael prefers the August date in Frisco.

Young Corbett is going to stick on the Coast until he wins a fight, and it looks as though he is Young Erne. Corbett and Erne will go on at a club in Oakland for a six-round bout and the winner has been promised another big bout in Frisco.

Sailor Brown, who has been doing longlegs work for Jack Britt, is getting in shape to box Jim Barry's next opponent in New York. Billy Brown will be on hand to look after his interests.

Patsy Brannigan and Charley Teddeau go at the National Club of Pittsburg August 10.

Bat Nelson has travelled 35,000 miles this year. This is his fifth trip from coast to coast this year, not mentioning the interior travelling with the Barnum & Bailey show. Bat has gotten rid of 25,000 books up to date, and expects to sell that many more before the month is out.

J. C. Campbell of Columbus, O., has purchased the four-year-old saddle stallion Kentucky Chance for $6,000. After the show season the horse will be taken to the Gay farm.

GEORGE GANO WINS GRAND CIRCUIT STAKE

DETROIT, July 28.—The fourteenth renewal of the Chamber of Commerce was the feature of the Grand Circuit racing, and, as was expected, it was won by the $15,000 horse from Pennsylvania, George Gano.

The handsome son of Gambetta Wilkes was never in trouble, a mile in 2:04¼ just being fun for him. He outclassed his field, for only the free-for-all horses can bother him in his present form.

Speculation was the heaviest ever known here, and despite the fact that Gano was known to have several seconds on the best of his field, there was always a good price against him.

Star Pointer, who defeated Gano at Terre Haute, was the hope of the field players, and although the black horse raced up to all that was expected, he never had a chance. It was a 2:08 horse racing against one who can go in 2:02.

SEVERAL HORSE SALES.

Several sales have been made by I. H. Morrill of Brunswick, Me. To L. H. Seeley of Fort Fairfield, Me., he sold Little Sweetheart, 2:14½; to Fred Simonson, Limestone, Me., the pacer Onward Grattan, 2:23¾, and to C. J. Hanson, Presque Isle, Me., the black gelding Chester Dare, by Columbia, 2:06¼.

TENNIS STARS BATTLE TO-DA AT LONGWO

The gallery at the Longwood Cricket Club to-day has a chance to see some fine tennis, when William J. Clothier, the challenger, meets William A. Larned, of Summit, N. J., the national singles champion and holder of the cup Clothier covets.

Larned took this cup at the Longwood games of last year. Clothier, who is ex-national champion, won the privilege of getting a chance at Larned to-day by defeating Richard H. Palmer of New York in the final round of the all-comers' tourney, the match running five sets.

It was expected that Clothier would defeat Palmer, but no one expected that the latter would be able to carry a match as far as he did. Palmer has played the former champion fully half the time, and the powerful Clothier at times nearly helpless as the pride Ridgewood crack pressed on with smashing attacks.

When the men came back Clothier was in fine trim, but Palmer seemed more recovered. As a result the ex-champion walked away with the next two and the match Palmer showed that he was exhausted, that he had played well out too early in the game, for fifteen had cost their speed and his nerve weakened. He could not run for the ball as it rose from Clothier's racket. The result was:

Champion of Philadelphia defeated Palmer of New York, 2—6, 6—2, 4—6, 6—2, 6—2.

CUPID'S SQUADRON — Sighted Off the First Shoal — By NELL BRINKLEY

"June's gone, and the June squadron is sighted just about far enough out on the honeymoon sea to tell with the glasses who's captain and who's the mate in each tub, for there're only two in each tub, and one's doing the bossing."

Why Many of the Best Women Do Not Marry

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

THE question has been asked, "Why are many of the very best women unmarried—women who ought to be the mother of many children, and could be persuaded to marry if only many fairly able men would step full into love with pink and white geese?"

Given a very good woman, who is mentally, morally and physically fitted to be an excellent wife and mother, remains unmarried, it is rarely from choice. She would not be a normal woman, worthy of being called among "the very best," if she preferred going through life alone.

One in a score of such cases will be found who is clinging to a memory of a vanished idol. Look in her palm, and you will find the mount of the Imagination abnormally developed and the Ideality large. She visits a grave in the cemetery or in her heart daily, and cherishes a withered flower and a package of yellow letters, and thinks of herself as weary as a widow, recently bereaved.

But for the other nineteen women who have remained single various explanations can be made.

Some of them have been loved and wooed by the wrong men, while the right man has passed on the other side of the street.

But most of them have been too good or too well educated, or too accomplished to think of the art of fascination.

Some women—many—are born with this knowledge. It is a talent, like any other which brings success in its own line.

"Pink and white geese" are especially gifted in the arts of fascination. They know how to win men, but they do not all know how to keep them in love after they win them.

The wiser a man is the more studious and the more serious, the more likely he is to be attracted by a "pink and white goose." She leads him into a new realm —and all men love new realms.

Men Want to Be Charmed

A studious and wise man does not feel drawn toward a studious and wise woman unless she knows how to hide her erudition under a charming guise of frivolity.

Some of them do. A brilliant and accomplished and earnest woman sometimes possesses this gift of fascination. It is not confined to the pink and white geese.

Good men frequently become infatuated with bad women. It is not the immoral by which attracts them, but the power of pleasing and fascinating which those women possess.

It is well for the highly virtuous and moral woman to consider this subject. She might be benefited by reading Balzac's dissertation on the moral and immoral women in "Cousin Bette."

One thing is certain — mere goodness and refinement do not attract mankind, unless they are associated with charm — that indefinable quality — and more than the ingredients of a salad places the appetite without the addition of a dressing. Some prefer mayonnaise, some French dressing — but a dressing there must be.

Immoral women and "pink and white geese" invariably strive to be interesting to the eye, and the most successful of them possess the fact not to weary the ear. They seem not to know too much, and to be appealing and unprotected, and in need of a defender.

The Sort of Woman He Seeks

Before marriage man likes an unfledged and "helpless" woman. In time he may outgrow this taste for lack of food to supply it; but it is his natural appetite, and asserts itself in spite of his reasoning powers.

Good and efficient wives are excellent possessions, but the good and efficient and self-sufficient girl does not attract, unless she has other qualities which appeal to the masculine mind.

As good as the best, as fascinating as the worst—that is the sort of woman that men are seeking, and it is to be regretted that virtue so often feels a contempt for fascination and classes it among the finesses, instead of bringing it into the virtues.

Oh, but it's a grand, fine sight—that gallant fleet that leaves port every June of the world!

You'd ought to take a "keek" at Love's workshop where they're turning out the "ships all gear long for that wedding-bells-mouth of the Summer-time. Tubs it is, because every two Wood-daves are pushed off with equal chances to go "durbling" to the bottom or to go riding high and fine, until they come to the Black Channel with its port always hidden in Mist. Love start 'em all out under the same flag and no "teacher's pets" in the matter of ships—all tubs.

All the same—the ones with a fat sack, that gives out a gentle jingle when you shake it, tacked away; the ones with only a little sack, and the ones with not any sack at all, who make a wry and puzzy mouth over it and don't care—all the same —tubs!

So it is their own fault that so many of 'em fill up and go down, that so many of 'em go round in circles and don't get anywhere.

Oh, of course, there's always the bunch of poor little ones that try to go to sea in a sieve and they never get but a yard away from the dock till their joke of a boat seeths full and swims to the bottom—bottom so close to the top that they wade out shamefacedly; bail good-bye to one another and gayly go their different ways, being that they only had the poor shell of love instead of his sturdy, woody, tight little craft.

So many never get past the reef of the first year. They poke a hole in the bottom of their tub to see the water bubble in; they get fresh and rock the boat; and they push each other out; they scrap and turn turtle; they change partners numerous times—oh-h—sometimes three or four times; they run aground; and plod along on some island of discontent; some of 'em find wonderful countries, golden Elysian fields, where the deep well of absolute love pulses out of the ground; some of 'em only find the Mud Seas and the Dragons that they look for, and these ones never believe that there are any Elysian fields; some of 'em go through all the wide seas and adventures and storms, and then go plump down, in the very sight of the last port—then the world always holds its tummy and laughs.

The world goes hilarious, too, when two "gran'fluers" might close to port, and not much time to dally and sail before they must take a short cut to it, join the June fleet and go a-bobbing over the merry waves.

But its a grand and fine sight to see the start.

And a curious one to see, I reckon, when they slide in at the Journey's end. For some'h not have any mate, and some will be pretty battered; they all started at once, but they'll come in, blind, forgetful, years apart; some will slip in tight and tired and happy, with their love grown big and deep and silent; some will come weary of one another, but holding the ends together; some will come young and soon into Port, and some will come old and long after they started. And when each June Fleet has all come in, how sad and small some of 'em will be, for all those that have dropped out and gone to the bottom, leaving their sailors to flounder to Port alone.

Sometimes it looks pretty much like all of 'em were just turned adrift—without any rudder or compass, just a little sail with a scarlet heart painted on it, and the Winds of the Sky that leans over all Lovers to send 'em along, and ones in a while on a frothy wicked shoal a little Love beaning kindly out to keep 'em off.

June's just gone, and the June Squadron is somewhere on the big treacherous water; just about sighted off the first shoal now, and some of 'em stuck on it, I bet. Just about long enough out to tell with the glasses from the land alongside who's captain and who's the mate in each tub. For there's only two on board and the first shoal out one's doing the bossing.

It's a scary looking Fleet and some's a fine class and their heart goes into their boats when they think of joining, but all you're got to do is sit tight and love much and you'll weather an Indian Sea Typhoon.

Good little old Tubs, just big enough for two.

'Twill All Be the Same in a Hundred Years

By KENNETT HARRIS

JUST notice the things that they do to wheat,
The prices that soar with each frenzied deal,
And think of the sums that we pay for meat!
It isn't much wonder we kick and squeal.

More scanty each day grows the poor man's meal;
Starvation's the spectre he daily fears;
He's foolish, however, despair to feel—
'Twill all be the same in a hundred years.

Political grafters! the way they cheat!
It's awful indeed the amount they steal.
We read of their doings with inward heat;
It isn't much wonder we kick and squeal.

Too little they care for the commonweal;
The average statesman at duty sneers;
But never complain of his lack of zeal—
'Twill all be the same in a hundred years.

Consider the crimes that the crooks complete,
The horrors that hourly the blood congeal,
The Justice that travels with leaden feet?
It isn't much wonder we kick and squeal.

A pretty condition the courts reveal,
It's much of a guess when the right appears;
But why from the wrong should the right appeal?
'Twill all be the same in a hundred years.

L'ENVOI.

With all of these ulcers so hard to heal,
It isn't much wonder we kick and squeal.
But here is a solace to dry our tears—
'Twill all be the same in a hundred years.

A NUCLEUS

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE once told an amusing story of an illiterate millionaire who gave a wholesale dealer an order for a copy of every book in all languages treating in any respect of Napoleon's career. He thought it would fill a case in his library.

He was somewhat taken aback, however, when in a few weeks he received a message from the dealer that he had got 40,000 volumes and was awaiting instructions as to whether he should send them on as an instalment or wait for a complete set.

Drink and Dress

"As Man Takes to Drink in Sorrow or Joy, So Woman Takes to Dress and Shopping. Both Can Be Weaned from Their Vices by Kindness and Appreciation."

By Dorothy Dix

ONE of the fundamental differences between men and women is the way in which the two sexes express emotion.

A man celebrates his happiness, or consoles himself in his grief, by taking a drink; a woman by going shopping.

When any especial good fortune happens to a man he makes a bee line to the nearest bar. When any good luck befalls a woman she hits the trail for the nearest department store. In the hour of grief, when robbed of his best beloved, a man seeks to drown his sorrow in the flowing bowl. Under the same circumstances a woman assuages her misery by buying a perfectly stunning mourning outfit.

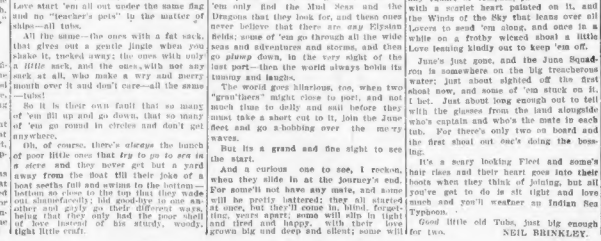
It would never occur to a normal man to find consolation in the depths of misfortune by buying himself a necktie, but no matter what happened to her a woman would still feel that life had its compensations in the midst of imported, hand-made lace collars. Nor would the average woman in trouble think of taking to drink. She would only dry her eyes to consider clothes, whereas a man who has anything to bear instinctively reaches out for a bottle to brace him up to stand it.

When a man strikes the top note of joy in life, when fate has given to him for one brief moment, at least, his heart's desire, his happiness bubbles over in champagne. At the same psychological hour in a woman's existence she puts on her prettiest pink silk and lace evening frock and her highest heeled slippers. Conversely, woman expresses a broken heart in billows of crepe, while men go out and get soused.

Dress, the Feminine Vice

Drink is the distinctively masculine vice, and dress the feminine, and it is curious to observe how little patience each sex has with the weakness of the other. Women lay most of their domestic unhappiness on drink. Men declare that they are ruined by their wives' love of dress. They cannot understand why men should be willing to beggar their families for the sake of gratifying their throats. Men cannot comprehend why women should be willing to bankrupt their husbands for the sake of adorning their backs.

Yet exactly the same reasons cause a woman to indulge to excess in her vice of dress that cause a man to become a drunkard. It is the light-minded, the frivolous, the undisciplined, those without self-control, those who must always be in the midst of the multitude and going the pace with those about them who become victims alike to fashion and liquor. Any silly woman who is nothing but a living, walking fashion plate would be a drunkard if she belonged to the persuasion that wears trousers, and any gay rounder, if he were a woman, would simply be a Daily Hint from Paris. Each sex to its own vices.



The feminine vice of dress is really the same as the masculine vice of drink

To the discerning there is often a very deep pathos in what appears to be a woman's inordinate passion for dress, because the buying of clothes with her is nothing but the futile effort to infuse a false glow of interest and happiness into a life that is dull and purposeless, or to drug to sleep some torturing sorrow. She is trying to get out of her shopping ticket exactly the same serpentine that the man does out of his bracing bottle.

Victims of Their Prosperity

We often look with a certain contempt at the fat, over-dressed, middle-aged women who are buying fifty-dollar hats and Paris model gowns in the stores, but we should be filled with pity instead if we only knew how many of them had nothing in life but clothes.

In all of our large cities there are thousands of women who are the victims of their prosperity. They are married to men who have made so much money that it is absurd for the wife to do her own housework, and yet when the cooking and the sweeping and the sewing were taken out of these women's hands, life put nothing else into them. No substitute occupation nor absorbing interest was given them. They are not highly educated, nor intellectual, nor artistic. Many of them have children with which to concern themselves, and the sweep of big business affairs has even carried their husbands away from them.

No women in the world lead more dreary, or forlorn lives. No women's days are emptier, and so these women are literally driven to the excitement of shopping to keep themselves from dying of stagnation and boredom. They have got to have some fill-up to their days, some artificial stimulated interest in place of the wholesome, natural interest that is denied them.

Both Vices Can Be Cured

Also, just as the man whose domestic affairs are beyond bearing tries to forget his nagging wife in the cheer that the corner saloon offers, so the woman who knows that her husband has ceased to love her and is unfaithful to her tries to find some balm for her outraged feelings at a high-priced shop on the avenue. Many a wife takes her revenge for her husband's shortcomings by running up outrageous bills for things she doesn't really want.

Of course, there are men who were born with an inherited taste for liquor that they are powerless to control, and that nobody could reform. So there are women born who have an abnormal passion for decking themselves out in finery, and who are willing to sell their very soul to get it, and no man can contend against their extravagance. The majority of men who drink, however, are the victims of circumstances, and so are most of the women who are slaves to dress.

Both of these can be cured by the same treatment. Many a man has been weaned away from a bottle by his wife's love and tenderness, and, by the same token, there is practically no woman that a little affection and appreciation from a husband won't make take the bargain counter pledge.

For women shop, as men drink, oftener for consolation and to make them forget, than for any other reason.

Solution of the Mysterious Letter

SEVERAL thousand translations of that oddly addressed envelope which so puzzled the postal authorities were submitted by members of the Puzzle Class. A large number of correspondents correctly deciphered the address to be:

"SIR," said a fierce lawyer, "do you on your oath, swear that this is not your handwriting?"

"I think not," was the cool reply.

"Does it resemble your writing?"

"I can't say it does."

"Do you swear that it does not resemble your writing?"

"I do."

"Do you take your oath that this writing does not resemble yours?"

"Y-e-s."

"Now, how do you know?"

"'Cause I can't write."

Smart Set Planning for Autumn Bridals

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

Even at this early date plans for Autumn weddings are being discussed. There are three important brides for Boston, and they are now the centre of interest on the North Shore, Hope Hemenway, Collette Dunaresq and Molly Eliot form the interesting trio. Miss Eliot's marriage to Richard Sears Lovering will take place at Manchester, where the Eliot's have recently been making their all-the-year-round home. Mrs. Alfred Coolman will be her sister's matron of honor.

Miss Hemenway and Mr. Richardson will likely have the most representative wedding, as the Hemenway connection is both large and distinguished, including as it does the Lawrences, Lorings, Brookes and Cunninghams. The engagement was announced just before Harvard class day.

Miss Dunaresq and Baudasyde Whitney will be another interesting and distinguished pair. Their engagement was announced in the early Spring.

An engagement of wide interest is that just announced in Shanghai, China, of Miss Mary A. Lunt, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Lunt, and Theodore W. Stedman, formerly of Jamaica Plain. Mr. Stedman is connected with the Standard Oil Company in Shanghai. He is a son of Mrs. Theodore Stedman of Mt. Vernon street, Boston, a brother of Arthur Stedman of the Country Club and of the late Daniel N. Stedman. Mrs. George R Alley is a niece.

From the Summer colony of Boston and Cambridge folk at Bar Harbor, Me., comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Shaw Greene, daughter of the late William Batchelder Greene of Boston and Dinard, France, to Samuel Eliot Morison, the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Morison of No. 44 Brimmer street, Boston. Miss Greene's mother was an Austen and her grandmother was a sister of the late Quincy Shaw. Miss Greene has traveled extensively and has but recently returned from a sojourn abroad. She is now at Bar Harbor with her two sisters. Mr. Morison was graduated from Harvard University last year and has been spending the past year in study at Paris. He is a grandson of the late Dr. Samuel Eliot and Mrs. Samuel Eliot, who was Emily Marshall before her marriage. The Morisons are spending the Summer at Bleakhouse, their country place in Peterboro, N. H., and in the Autumn they will go to their town house on Brimmer street.

Boston, Brookline and Beverly people filled the Unitarian Church in Pembroke Tuesday evening to attend the wedding of Miss Pearl Dorcas Pulsifer of Pembroke to the Rev. Paul Horrocks Drake, pastor of the Universalist Church in Beverly. Emily Shepherd and Dorothy Pernald attended the bride as flower girls and the bridesmaids were Dorothy L. Purgery, Emma Foster, Ethel Graham and Elsie Burgess. Harry W. Litchfield of Harvard played the wedding music and the ushers were Marshall Pulsifer, Merlin Shepard, Herbert Young and Granville Thayer. The Rev. Mr. Brandon of Plymouth performed the ceremony.

Congratulations are pouring into Dalton to-day to Senator and Mrs. Winthrop Murray Crane on the birth of another son. This is the second child which has come into the Crane home. The other son, Stephen, was born in 1907. The new baby was Josephine Boardman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Boardman of Washington. Her marriage took place in July, 1906, at Manchester-by-the-Sea. One of the birth of another son was immediately sent to Washington yesterday and the Senator forgot all business and tariff troubles and hastened to Dalton.

Mrs. Robert Winthrop, Grenville L. Winthrop, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Blight, Miss Clementine Furniss, Mrs. Charles Astor Bristed, Dr. Richard C. Derby and Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Howland were among the guests yesterday at the luncheon which Miss Rosalie Goodman and Richard Goodman gave at their place, Yokuan Cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald De Koven gave a dinner of sixteen covers last evening at the Dorgeouic, their country place at Bar Harbor. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Adamowski, Miss Keely, Miss Mills, Miss Anne Thompson, Miss De Koven, Roland Harvey, Mr. Blair, Frank B. Keely and P. O. Mills.

Mrs. George A. Draper has recently given a dinner at Bar Harbor in honor of Miss Gertrude Bradford, the fiancee of her nephew, Preston Davie.

Ex-Mayor and Mrs. Josiah Quincy have closed their house at Dedham and have gone to East Gloucester. Josiah F. Quincy is occupying the Prince Cottage at Nahant in the absence of Dr. Morton Prince in Europe.

An attractive wedding took place in Dorchester last evening when Miss Gibson Mae Eldredge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Eldredge, became the bride of Dwight Willis Sleeper, also of Dorchester. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Myra S. Eldredge, Miss Hazel L. Sleeper, Miss Vivian Kelly, Ralph W. Smith, Samuel E. Scott, Frank Bell, Frank C. Arnstrong and Philip Johnson.

Miss Annie Ellis Dexter of Boston is at Narragansett Pier for a short time.

A dinner and dance is to be given this evening at the Essex County Club with the following committee in charge: Mrs. John W. Curtis, Mrs. Berthelot Beal, Mrs. Lester Leland, Mrs. Washington B. Thomas, and Miss Mabel Boardman.

Mrs. Laughlin of Pittsburg, a sister-in-law of President Taft, is one of the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip A. Clarke at Newport. Mrs. Laughlin has been playing in the ladies' tournament at the Newport Golf Club.

Mrs. Richard Dana gave a dinner last evening at Birchwood terrace in Lenox in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farnsworth.

Residents of Newport during the Summer will regret the departure of the Marquis and Marquise Rene d'Andigne, who have recently left the Newport colony for a trip to Europe.

The big annual bridge tournament at the Kebo Valley clubhouse has been set for Tuesday, August 24.

William H. Warren of Trinity Court announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Ivactta M. Warren, to Earl W. Smith of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wilkinson and their daughter, Miss Constance Wilkinson, have gone to California.

THE MYSTERY OF THE YELLOW ROOM

Copyright, 1908, by Brentano's.

CHAPTER XXVII.—Continued.

In Which Joseph Rouletabille Appears in All His Glory.

"MONSIEUR DARZAC," asked the President, "did Mademoiselle Stangerson in any way confide to you on this matter? How is it that she has never spoken about it to any one? If you are knowing she would have wished to spare you the pain of being accused—"

"Mademoiselle Stangerson told me nothing," replied Monsieur Darzac.

"How do you explain that, on the night of the murder of the keeper, the President asked, turning to Rouletabille, "the murderer brought back the papers stolen from Monsieur Stangerson's—How do you explain how the murderer gained entrance into Mademoiselle Stangerson's locked room?"

"The last question is easily answered. A man like Larsan, or Ballmeyer, could have made duplicate keys. As to the documents, I had left Larsan in full liberty to steal them, at first. Closely watching Mademoiselle with the purpose of preventing her marriage with Monsieur Robert Darzac, he one day followed her and Monsieur into the Grands Magasins de la Louvre. There he got possession of his victim's pocket book with a brass head. He did not know there was any value attached to the key, and after the interest in the newspapers revealed it. He then wrote to Stangerson, asking for settlement requested. No doubt he asked for a meeting, making him feel at ease, he was also the person who had for some time pursued her with his love. He received no answer. He went to the Post-office and ascertained that his letter was no longer there. He had already taken complete stock of Monsieur Darzac, and, having decided to go to any lengths to gain Mademoiselle Stangerson, had planned out, whatever might happen, Monsieur Darzac, his hated rival, should be the one suspected.

"I do not think that Larsan had as yet thought of murdering Mademoiselle Stangerson; but whatever he might do, he made sure that Monsieur Darzac should suffer for it. He was very nearly of the same height as Monsieur Darzac and had almost the same sized feet. It would not be difficult to take an impression of Monsieur Darzac's footprints, and have similar boots made for himself. Such tricks were mere child's play for Larsan, or Ballmeyer.

Larsan's Motives Analyzed.

"Receiving no reply to his letter, he determined, since Mademoiselle Stangerson would not come to him, that he would go to her. His plan had long been formed. He had made himself master of the plans of the chateau and the pavilion. So that, one afternoon, while Monsieur and Mademoiselle Stangerson were out for a walk, and while Daddy Jacques was away, he entered the latter by the vestibule window. He was alone, and, being in no hurry, he began examining the furniture. One of the pieces, resembling a safe, had a very small keyhole. That interested him! He had with him the little key with the brass head, and, absolutely one with the other, he tried the key in the lock. The door opened. He saw nothing but papers. They must be very valuable to have been put away in a safe, and the key to which to be of so much importance. He quickly made a parcel of the papers and took it to the lavatory in the vestibule. Between the time of his first examination of the pavilion and the night of the murder of the keeper, Larsan had had time to find out what those papers contained. Perhaps he hoped that, by returning the papers, he might obtain some gratitude from Mademoiselle Stangerson."

Rouletabille nodded. It was evident to me that he was embarrassed. He had arrived at a point where he had to keep back his knowledge of Larsan's true motive. The explanation he had given was evidently feeble, unsatisfactory. Rouletabille was quick enough to note the bad impression he had made, for, turning to the President, he said: "And now we come to the explanation of the Mystery of the Yellow Room!"

A movement of chairs in the court with a rustling of dresses, and an energetic whispering of "Hush!" showed the curiosity that had been aroused.

"It seems to me," said the President, "that the Mystery of the Yellow Room, Monsieur Rouletabille, is wholly explained by your hypothesis. Another Larsan is the explanation. We have merely to substitute him for Monsieur Darzac. Evidently the door of the Yellow Room was open at the time Monsieur Stangerson was alone, and that he allowed the man who was to become Mademoiselle's chamber to pass, without arresting him, perhaps at her entreaty, is also inconceivable."

"No, Monsieur President," protested the young man. "You forget that, stunned by the attack made on her, Mademoiselle Stangerson was not in a condition to have made such an appeal. Nor could she have locked and bolted herself in her room. In the matter of those traces and see if they You must remember that Monsieur Stangerson has sworn that the door was not open."

The Mystery Is Explained.

"That, however, is the only way in which it can be explained. The Yellow Room was as closely shut as an iron safe. To use your own expression, it was impossible for the murderer to make his escape either naturally or supernaturally. When the room was broken into he was not there! He must, therefore, have escaped."

"That does not follow."

"What do you mean?"

"There was no need for him to escape—if he was not there!"

"Not there!"

"Evidently, not. He could not have been there, if he were not found there."

"But, what about the evidences of his presence?" asked the President.

"That, Monsieur President, is where we have taken hold of the wrong end. From the time Mademoiselle Stangerson shut herself in her room to the time her door was burst open, it was impossible for the murderer to escape. He was not found because he was not there during that time."

"But the evidences?"

"They have led us astray. In reason ing on this mystery we must not take them to mean what they apparently mean. Why do we conclude the murderer was not? Because he left his tracks in the room? Good! But may he not have been there before the room was locked? Nay, he must have been there before! Let us look into

ROMANCE OF THE RING.

WHEN you see the diamond engagement ring encircling the snow-white finger of a girl you may think it was slipped on to the accompaniment of a manly voice saying "You are MINE." Nothing in it. The girl has worked and schemed for that solitaire diamond, and many times had to coax right out and ask for it. At least, an Atchison woman who has had a good deal of experience says if a man can get out of giving an engagement ring he will. She says she was engaged a whole year and did not mention engagement rings until one evening she said to him, "Jim, aren't you going to give me an engagement ring?" He said, "I had thought of it; what kind do you want?" She told him a solitaire diamond. He was quite poor, and so said, "You don't want much, but he gave it to her. In such cases a man is in the same position as when a skillful agent gets hold of him—he is worked before he knows it.—Richmond Globe.

A BOOK OF GOLD

The most valuable work in existence is said to be a copy of the Koran, now treasured in the Fohonmedau city of Ispahan, Persia. The covers, 9½ by 4 inches, are of solid gold, ¼ inch thick, while the pages are studded in symbolic designs figure in the centre and at each of the corners. The book is written upon parchment, and this part of the work alone is valued at £10,000.—London Globe.

$10,000,000 for Beans

Boston, the home of good living, annually spends ten million dollars for beans. For this is Nature's choicest food, and cheap.

Beans are 23% nitrogenous—84% nutriment. They exceed meat in food value—exceed eggs and cheese—yet they cost but a fraction as much.

They are delicious and hearty; all people like them. And no food sustains, to an equal extent, the work of brain and muscle.

Beans form the ideal food for strength and growth—for the epicure and the economical.

That is why we have worked, for 18 years, to perfect this premier dish.

We invite you to share—as millions are doing—in the benefit of what we have done.

Don't cling to home baking. Don't let the lack of needed facilities spoil this important dish.

Don't waste time and labor and fuel to do, in the wrong way, what we can do better.

It is not merely a question of knowledge or skill. One must have costly facilities to rightly bake beans.

In the first place, the oven. Beans baked in dry heat are not a digestible dish.

You can't apply enough dry heat to break up the particles, so the digestive juices can get to them.

You crisp the top beans, but the beans farther down never get half enough heat.

That is why home-baked beans are heavy; why they ferment and form gas. And that is why you serve them, probably, not more than once a week.

We bake in five steam, superheated to 265 degrees. We bake in small parcels, so that full heat goes through.

The result is, our beans digest. They don't ferment and form gas. You get the whole of their food value.

Here is another inviting result:

In steam baking, none of the beans are crisped, and none of the skins are broken.

We bake the beans until they are mealy, yet they are nutty because they are whole. Compare them with beans that are mushy and broken, as they come out from a home oven.

Then we bake the beans, the tomato sauce and the pork all together and get a delicious blend.

Nobody dreams how good beans can be until he once tries Van Camp's.

Van Camp's PORK AND BEANS

BAKED WITH TOMATO SAUCE

Think of the trouble saved, the time and the fuel. Think how convenient to have meals ready-cooked, better than you can prepare them.

Millions of housewives who used to bake beans are now buying Van Camp's.

They started by buying a single can, just as we ask you. Then their people asked to have more of them, just as your people will.

Now they keep a dozen cans in the house—a dozen meals ready for instant serving. They don't have bean-baking days.

It was hard for us to get them to change from home baking. But it would be utterly impossible to get them now to change back.

Please do as they did. See if your people like beans nutty and mealy, with tomato sauce baked in. See if they want beans digestible. If they do, think what you save in time and trouble. And think what you save on your meat bills.

Telephone your grocer now.

Three sizes: 10, 15 and 20 cents per can.

WOMAN

Just What Are Her Responsibilities

By WINIFRED BLACK

A WOMAN I know was talking to me about children the other day.

"I have never had any," she said, "and sometimes I am sorry—but, on the whole, I think I'm glad.

"I'm so conscientious. I could never take the responsibility of the molding of an immortal soul and carry it as lightly as some people do.

"Now, look at that woman over there. She has three with her, and probably there are more at home."

The woman "over there" was on the opposite side of the park. She was a cheerful, rosy, smiling little person, with a baby in her arms, a bullet-headed boy on one side and a sleek-haired girl on the other. The bullet-headed boy was giving the sleek-headed girl's thin legs a sly pinch every time he got a chance, and the slim girl was retaliating with a well-directed and deliberately vicious kick.

"See," said my friend, "that woman don't doing a thing to correct that dreadful attitude of mind of those children.

"What will they grow up to be, and whose fault is it?

"I have a friend whose little girl tells the most awful fibs—and why you can't believe a word she says, and the little girl's mother just laughs about it. Why, I would go crazy if I had a child like that.

"It's a good thing you haven't," said I, "a good thing for you and for the child.

"How do you suppose the world got along before you and the rest of your conscientious system were born?

"Was it conscientious about you? Your mother didn't go crazy worrying about you. She didn't even join a child's study class to find out what to do. She just loved you and punished you and forgave you—and you came through fairly well. Were you such an angel, or what?"

"Oh, said my conscientious friend, "the old-fashioned mother was different.

"She didn't realize her responsibility. She didn't understand what her great mission on earth meant."

"N-N-O," said I, "maybe she didn't.

"She had a God, you know, and she believed in Him, and when she was too worried about Johnnie's temper, or Julia's sly disposition, and couldn't stand it any longer she told Him about it and asked Him to help her, and to help the children, and then she went to bed.

"Of course, she was very foolish and very weak and very superstitious to do all these things.

"She ought to have realized that she was the one important cog in the universe, and that everything on earth depended on her.

"Then, she might have gone crazy, or given up being "conscientious," oh, but just think how "conscientious" she could have been.

My friend looked at me with a world of scorn in her expressive eyes, laughed, and somewhat benignant eyes. "Dear me," she said, "you don't want us to go back to the old-time religion at this day, do you?"

"Oh, I don't know," I said, "I don't know that the old-time women, who didn't know more than the theater of all things, were worse off than we are, and I'm not sure, who let the God who created the world look after the children, and take some of the responsibility of looking after them.

My friend laughed and looked embarrassed. I think she was afraid some one would overhear me talking such old-fash ioned nonsense and right in public too, so afraid she was a good deal hurt, and—and yet I wonder if the little woman over the way with the three children and her rosy, sappy face, wasn't about the finest mother I ever saw in the world as she was my "conscientious" friend and her kind.

MAKE FARMER'S LIFE ATTRACTIVE TO SUPPLY DEMANDS, SAYS WILSON

By JAMES WILSON,

Secretary United States Department of Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—"Mr. Gates is right in his assertion that this country is capable of supporting a vastly increased population, but it can only be done with improved and more scientific methods of farming and better conditions all around.

"I agree with Mr. Hill. We are not producing foodstuffs in proportion to the increase in population. The chief reason for this is that the number of those engaged in agricultural pursuits is out of proportion to our ever increasing population.

"The trouble lies, as I have often said, in the fact that the cities have grown in population at the expense of the rural communities. The people have moved from the country to the towns, and in consequence the farms have not produced as they would if the people had remained to work them.

"The history of the country for the last fifty years gives abundant reason for this state of affairs.

"We began to develop our manufactories about that time. We gave these manufactories ample protection with a tariff which was a good thing for them, and for the farmer, who found thereby a ready home market for his product.

"But the factory offered better inducement to the youth of the farm, better wages, shorter hours, the attractions of a town or city life, lights at night, excitement, recreation, many things which the farm had not. This tended to draw the life blood of the farm and did much to begin the trouble. Then we began to build railroads. These in their building and operation took the bone and sinew of the farm throughout the region they traversed.

Farmer's Life Became a Burden.

"About this time we enacted our homestead law, and began to give land away to whoever would go upon it and till it. This brought a horde of settlers, who took up vast sections of valuable land and began to farm.

"The rich virgin soil tilled by these thousands produced abundantly, more than the section needed or could consume. In consequence prices dropped. Corn, wheat, rye, cattle, hogs, potatoes—all the staple articles of food—dropped to prices so low as to make it not worth while to harvest them.

"These conditions lasted for years. The farmer's life was a burden, and, with mortgages facing him, a snare. There was no inducement for the son to follow in his father's footsteps and inherit either the burden or the honor. Thousands who had taken up government lands dropped out of agricultural pursuits.

"That is the condition that confronts us.

"True, the farmer to-day is in a better position than he has been for years. He is getting good prices, and we should not begrudge them to him after the long lean years through which he passed.

Farmer Now Reaping Reward.

"He has to work hard, sixteen hours a day at least, but he is getting a long deferred return for his labor. The way to get the people from the city to the farm is a broader and wider distribution of agricultural education.

"Most of our colleges to-day are strenuously at work turning out lawyers, doctors, preachers and typewriters, but few of them make any effort to graduate a farmer. I would have agriculture in some form taught in every seat of learning and in our public schools.

"Starting with the fact that while the farmer has to work hard he has as a reward better health, a longer life and a more independent existence than any other man on earth, it ought to be easy to make the life attractive.

"Then I would have the young men taught the newest and latest methods of agriculture. Show them how they can produce more from an acre than their fathers did, prove to them how to make $3 where their fathers made but $1, and you will have offered the inducement needed to check the abandonment of the farm for the city."

NEW HAT OVER FOOT HIGH ON WAY TO BOSTON

"Russian turban," which is slated to displace peach basket "lid."

Adieu to the "merry widow" hat.
Farewell to the peach basket lid.
Good bye for "rats" and puffs

A new bug for women is on its way to hit America within a few weeks and it will go the peach basket one better and cause the "merry widow" to doff her cap.

The new hat is known as the "Russian turban." It is a foot and a half in height by actual measurement and has one redeeming feature in that it is not very wide. A Boston milliner who returned from Paris to-day brought ridings of the new hat.

"I am bringing several of them over with me," he said, "and New York milliners are doing the same. Although this startling creation is made of fur, it is now all the rage in Paris, and the weather during the last few weeks has been cold and damp and has thus hastened the advent of the Russian turban.

"This hat first received its vogue from the fact that is was worn in the Russian opera in Paris. It is clearly like the headwear worn by hussars, and it also has an elegance. The last month that woman will have to abandon "rats" and puffs. These cannot be worn because the hair will have to be done into a knot on top of the head to act as a support for the Russian turban."

IMPORTANT REALTY SALE IN BACK BAY

A large volume of sales marked trading in the realty bond to-day, and there was a big improvement over yesterday's dull business.

In the Back Bay the valuable residence property at No. 300 Beacon street, between Exeter and Fairfield streets, comprising a three-story octagon front brick dwelling house and 2,830 square feet of land, has been sold by Margaret Riley to Augustus N. Rantoul. The estate is assessed for a total of $30,600, of which $21,400 is on the land.

In the Beacon Hill district the brick stable and 3,372 square feet of land at 44 Joy street, between Myrtle street and South court, and assessed for a total of $10,000, have been sold by the trustees of Boston University to Joseph Sweigl, Jr., passing to Celia Trofsky. The property is taxed on a total valuation of $10,000, of which $9,500 is on the land. The purchaser will immediately improve.

Cameos Semple et al. have sold to David I. Fill the four-story brick building and 3,000 square feet of land at Nos. 10-61 Endicott street, corner of Morton street, North End. This estate is assessed for a total of $13,000, of which $8,400 is on the land.

In the West End the three-story brick and one-story frame buildings and 3,500 square feet of land at No. 25 Parkman street, extending through to No. 26 Phillips street, corner of Grove street, West End, have been sold by Isabel Bell et al., trustees, to David Goldman. This property is assessed by the city proper for a total of $4,800, of which $4,700 is on the land.

Joseph Greco and wife have sold to Alice T. Chandler a lot of land, containing 3,071 square feet, on Ivy street, corner of Arnold street, Back Bay, the lot being assessed for a total of $7,200, it is the only remnant of the Revere & Clark estate on Massachusetts avenue to the Massachusetts line which has been sold. The deed was prepared by the office of Hiram M. Sawyer.

In Roxbury the three-flat brick house at Nos. 2 to 10 Gunnison terrace, corner of Bird street, and 5,787 square feet of land have been sold by Henry L. Wright et ux. to Abraham Rose. The estate is taxed for a total of $10,300, of which $11,000 is on the land.

Toni M. Kent has sold to William J. Miller, trustee, the two and one-half story brick dwelling house and 6,900 square feet of land, assessed for a total of $6,000, of which $3,000 is on the land, situated on Dorchester avenue, Roxbury. The deed is dated for $4,500.

Hanna Olson has sold to Jacob Rosenberg the frame apartment houses and 6,450 square feet of land at Nos. 65-65 Hollander street, Ward 24, Dorchester. The estate is assessed on a total valuation of $12,800, of which $2,000 is on the land.

Henry W. Savage reports that final papers have been passed through the city office in the sale of Charles F. Colson and John Murphy of his new three-family frame apartment house and 3,000 square feet of land, No. 50 Weldon street, Dorchester. The land is assessed for $2,000 and the building $5,600 making a total assessed value of $7,600. Mr. Murphy bought for a home and investment.

NANTASKET NOW AT ITS HEIGHT

The early August weeks are the best in the year for the beach season. Nantasket Beach is at its best. Nantasket Beach has some of the finest amusements in the world. Among them are Grand's Carnival Court, Grant's merry-go-round, the Lyric Theatre and Ye Old Mill. Thousands patronize the principal show amusements daily. Next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN will publish free tickets. Use is for the big theatre mentioned here. The next gives a free journey through "Ty" Nichols's jungle of waterways, grottoes, tropical plants and caves filled with wild animals. It is splendid, and it is free next Monday or Tuesday. The other two are half-fare tickets to the scenic railway, airships, Paradise, flying horses and mammoth chutes.

GET TICKETS FOR WHITE CITY FREE

White City, the famous amusement park on the shore of Lake Quinsigamond, Worcester, is at the height of its season. Few cities of the size of Worcester can boast of such a park. The fare at White City is always wide open and free to the public. Inside are the best attractions known to any Summer park. Next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN will publish free tickets. There will be seven free tickets. Use is for the big theatre mentioned here. TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS: FINANCIAL NEWS

WALL ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

WALL STREET, New York, July 28.—Declaration of a 4 per cent. dividend on Steel common was generally expected by the Street and caused no surprise. The action of the stock foreshadowed this dividend, but the real strength of Steel shares is due to the rapidly increasing rate of earnings. The official statement shows that each of the succeeding months in the last quarter made a very material gain over the previous one. Orders booked are proof that future months will show a corresponding increase.

The volume of orders on hand is 4,937,030 tons. This is an increase of more than 900,000 over the previous quarter. The earnings were $29,340,491 net, which is an increase of nearly $7,000,000 over the previous quarter. Earnings for April were $8,163,244; for May, $9,661,228, and for June $11,516,019. The surplus is increased by $5,504,144.

Payment of the increased dividend by the directors of Wall Street is a matter of good faith. According to the figures of the corporation, it has not failed to earn at least 8 per cent. on its common stock any year since organization. The earnings have been withheld from the common stockholders to bolster up the position of the bondholders and the preferred shareholders. Common justice has at last forced an increased payment to the common stockholders.

It can be said on the highest banking authority that every effort is being made by insiders to keep the stock market dull and sluggish until the crops are further along. The insiders intend to give the crops every chance. If a really big crop is built market within a few weeks, but for the present they want nothing done. Mr. Harriman will probably give the signal any time the jamboree by announcing his big issue of securities.

At the recent top in the market the average price of the twenty railroads discouraged all but 2.6 points and the industrials .69 points of the loss these groups had suffered in the decline during the panic of 1907 from the high in January to the low in November of that year. Both groups are at a level, which is within 8 points of the highest prices in the history of the market, and indications are that with any encouraging developments this margin will be cut down.

Leading bankers are somewhat discomforted by the persistent cheapness of money. Readers of this column are perhaps the only ones who thoroughly understand the money situation as it is developing from day to day. The Aldrich law, which permits banks to print $500,000,000 of money secured by the deposit of government bonds, is high money out of the question, no matter how much business may improve. Those who do not understand the iniquities of the Aldrich law just mentioned that when business recovered money would be without limit. They do not, but they should. In justice to the directors it is noted that a provision in the company's charter requires that no dividend be paid by it unless the quick assets are more than $6,500,000. This is to keep the corporation's trade from this contingent surplus under the amount required by the Hughes law. Moreover, the action stated that the surplus now stands at more than $7,500,000. Therefore, the lump payment ordered and the increased issue are justified. Moreover, the action is the largest in the history of the organization—so large that no order will be received for immediate delivery.

Interborough-Metropolitan advanced under further purchasing by the pool of insiders. The public is being warmed not to buy the stock, although it is apparent that ultimately it is going to be a handsome profit to the pool. An honest reorganization is promised, and that promise is an admission of past offenses, which may reassure the public.

Introduction in Washington of a bill to prohibit the mailing of publications regarding false and misleading statements regarding securities is the result of the recommendations of the Hughes commission. This law will, of course, make it a crime to print quotations of alleged transactions on the curb market and on the stock exchange. The bill will enable the New York Stock Exchange to control the washing of stocks and to keep manipulation within reasonable limits.

UNION PACIFIC CROSSES 200

By T. C. SHOTWELL.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Harriman stocks were leaders in Wall Street to-day, with new high records in Union Pacific and New York Central. Union Pacific crossed 200 for the first time amid great excitement on the floor of the exchange, selling one point above that mark in the first few minutes of trading. Contrary to general opinion, but little stock was received at that level and the advance was held.

New York Central, which Harriman has made almost as important as Union Pacific in the stock market, sold up to 157½, which is the highest price it has reached in several years. Harriman brokers have all heavily loaded with this stock and report that things are predicted for it as soon as the Harriman plan of financing is officially announced.

Declaration of the 3 per cent. dividend on Steel caused an advance of half a point in the common to 71⅞, while the preferred also gained a fraction, touching 128. Transactions in this issue were also on a moderate scale.

Republic Iron and Steel sold at new record prices, the common at 26 and the preferred at 110, as a result of the new financing. Reading, Southern Pacific, Atchison and other standard issues were strong. On the New York Curb Market business was very light.

Duncan Coulson and D. L. McGibbon have resigned as directors of the Bruce Mining Company, to represent the new interest in the property.

In London Harriman stocks were leaders, a report from Canada to the effect that the sale of 2,000,000 acres of land on the Canadian Pacific

LOCAL MARKET FEATURELESS

STATE STREET, July 28.—The local market was absolutely featureless this forenoon, although the tone was good. The increased Steel common dividend had already been discounted, although the general impression is that the increase was for stock market reasons only. The market opened with buy orders in it here and there and the price was from 71⅜ to 71¾.

Copper shares were dull, but firm. Gay was a buyer of Superior at little or no price change. North Butte had few sell orders, and the price rose from 58½ to 58⅝. U. S. Smelting was again in the form at 54 and better. Amalgamated appeared heavy and ran off almost a point. Boston Consolidated was in fair request at and around 16.

Curb trading was of fair volume and prices were well maintained. Rhode Island Coal maintained its lead in activity at 7 and better. Vulture and Yukon were a trifle more animated and Ahmeek sold at 105. Beavercoke had action at 2⅞@3⅛ cents.

FLORAL DANCE IN 'CINDERELLA' SHOW

Among the new features in "Cinderella" at Wonderland Park is the floral skipping rope dance by five little fairies. For the sake of the little folks, some of whom have to be home early to-night, the "Cinderella" production is given every afternoon as well as evening, the demand being so great that the management decided to give two shows a day at 2.30 and 8.30. Children under twelve years are admitted free to Wonderland on afternoons up to 6 o'clock if they are accompanied by adults. See the free tickets in next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN for park admission, one for the Golden Graces, all free, and the half-fare coupons for twelve other principal park productions at the rate of two admissions for a coupon and a nickel to five-cent shows and one ten-cent ride or show for a ticket and five cents.

The Income Tax and Prosperity

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

Work for all classes. "The income tax places a penalty on thrift," is the cry of the wealthy—great and small. On the contrary, by inducing reinvestment the income tax places a premium on real thrift—which is not merely hoarding money, but saving and employing it.

The income tax is the straightest, fairest tax that ever was proposed. Certainly those who derive the most from our country and our form of government should pay their proportion of conducting that government. As against a high protective tariff the income tax is incomparably fairer and more logical. While the average rich man may consume more imported products than the average poor man, the latter in the mass carries vastly the greater share of the burden, though he pays the duty to the local manufacturer instead of to the government.

Every once in a while an awestruck voice from Washington whispers that we are threatened with a treasury deficit. COULD ANYTHING BE MORE RIDICULOUS THAN A DEFICIT IN THE TREASURY OF THE RICHEST COUNTRY IN THE WORLD? The income tax would still this croaking voice forever.

We would have had the income tax in this country years ago if it had not been for a sudden change of opinion in the mind of one man, which gave a bare majority of our Supreme Court against the constitutionality of such a tax. Under that decision it will take a constitutional amendment to put this SANE, STRAIGHT, FAIR, LOGICAL revenue measure into our law books.

And the American purposes doing all in its power to expedite the amending of the Constitution.

The people must make it plain to the members of the Legislature of the various States that they must vote in approval of the amendment.

The income tax is the desire of the country. Congress voted it the only time it was submitted. The President has declared for it, and only a technicality, rooted up by a burrowing Judge, stands in the way of it. Now let the country have its will.

The Sad-Irons of Uncle Sam

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

It is given out at Washington that the Pacific fleet, with its score and more of powerful fighting machines, will be sent to the Orient in the early Autumn.

The destination named is the Philippine Islands.

From that point of vantage Rear-Admiral Sebree and his men can shed a monitory influence over the lands and seas of the Far East.

The circumnavigating warships of America have become in these latter days the liveliest guaranty of the world's peace.

They are fired and fuelled by no imperial ambitions.

The orders under which they sail demand nothing of any nation that all others may not have on equal terms.

They patrol the democratic highways of the ocean and guard the open gates of commerce.

The epic of the knight-errantry of the republic—the far-wandering romance of the American navy—has not yet been written.

For the poem cannot be written until the story is rounded and finished.

To-day we are too deep in the action and tangle of the plot to understand its moral—or appreciate its magnanimity.

The American navy exists to lift the principle of the Square Deal above the level of a domestic policy and apply it to the wide fields of international law.

And this adventure toward a universal equity carries with it the thrill of a great faith—the faith that the laws of the universe are moral laws.

Cynics will sneer and sentimental reformers groan—but the warships of the American navy will go on their mission.

They bear the mandates of a chivalrous people, mail-fisted to meet the meanness of the world.

Just now the question is of smoothing the wrinkled front of Japanese diplomacy.

The Japanese are a kind and clever people. They generally mean well. And they can fight by the book of geometry.

But their diplomacy is underhanded and circuitous. In Manchuria, in Hawaii and the Philippines, at Pekin and at San Francisco it threatens the peace of nations.

These wrinkles of Japanese political intrigue need to be flattened to the level of the common right.

The warships of the Pacific fleet are the sad-irons of Uncle Sam sent to launder the ruffled shirt-fronts of Oriental diplomacy.

Dr. Huntington's Death

Thousands of persons suffer a personal bereavement and know that the world is poorer by the death at Nahant of Rev. Dr. Huntington, rector of Grace Church, New York. It is the highest possible praise of him to say that he brought into the world no genius, no unique endowment, no matchless gift of mind or tongue, for, without the eloquence of Phillips Brooks, the ecclesiastic diplomacy of Bishop Potter or the administrative genius of Dr. Greer, he, nevertheless, so inspired a great Episcopal parish with the nobility of his mind and heart that he made the entire parish a community of workers almost unequalled in the city. Dignity, generosity, simplicity, efficiency in all good work, modesty and unselfishness were all such strong traits in William Reed Huntington that no one could know him well without gaining some, at least, of those virtues, just

—ON— THE GREED OF GOLD

THE spirit of the Golden Rule is the only influence that can reconcile the conflicting elements of society. This proposition is so transparently true that argument in its support would prove to be confusing rather than illuminating.

But the Golden Rule, like all other commodities composed of the precious metal, is expensive, and because expensive rare. And the reconciling influence is exerted, not by the Golden Rule when considered as a doctrine, but when exercising its power as an impulse.

We have all been laying quite too much emphasis on doctrine, and altogether too little on that exercise of feeling and sentiment that the doctrine is supposed to represent.

Tolstoi takes Christendom very sharply, and very justly, to task for doctrinally assenting to the altruism exemplified by Christ, but without adopting the spirit of altruism into the heart and making it the governing passion in the life. That is to a considerable extent the occasion of the schism that has grown up between the churches and the masses, that while it is known that altruism is preached in the pulpits and professed in the pews, it is so decrepit a factor in the relations and activities of every-day life.

Guilty of Selfishness, in Second Degree.

The criticisms popularly passed upon the churches may sometimes be unjustly severe, and among the adherents of the church there is, perhaps, less indifference to the condition of the unfortunate than is rather commonly claimed. But if such adherents are not altogether guilty of the sin of selfishness in the first degree, there is considerable reason why there should be brought in against us a verdict of guilty in the second degree, and we had better mend our ways rather than retaliate upon those who are our critics.

Selfishness is so fundamental a vice that it may be safely claimed that if we could once get it out of society all the other vices would be found to have gone along with it. Earth, with selfishness eliminated from it, would be a kind of economic, intellectual, social and domestic heaven. It being thus the tap-root of all the evils, it follows that it is the root it will be the most difficult to wrench from the soil of individual and social life.

If now the impulse toward material accumulation—or what we might call the money passion—is to be abated in society, and a victory be gained over the vulgar greed for gold, it will be effected, not by any mere resolve to be less self-aggrandizing, but by the gentle and careful substitution of some less coarse object of pursuit in its place.

We never become less addicted to the money habit by resolving to be so. Indirection is often wiser than direction. A straight line is not always the shortest path between two given points.

A German friend once came to New York and went into business. He had a genius for making money, and before many years had passed had acquired a large fortune. Of course, by that time his passions had come to acquire a strong bent moneyward. He realized that fact and the direction in which he was drifting.

Being still a big and juicy-souled man, he lamented the course his impulses were taking, but being too wise to suppose that he could save himself from money rot, by deciding not to let his soul fall into decay, he gave up business and threw himself with all the fervor of his warm, intellectual strength into the study of history, literature and art, and from out the old passion by the adoption of a new, or rather diverted the old tide of impulse into another channel.

There is nothing sadder than an old man who has been swept along toward his last years by the frenzy of greed till all the finer impulses of his soul have either become decayed or been sucked into the current of his one overmastering and selfish passion of gain.

We cannot be both a materialistic people and a great people, and the only means by which we can quit centralizing our thought upon material things will be by throwing our personal energies in other directions, by so far drawing off the current of course moneyed passion onto wider and richer ground.

We Are Coarsened by Worship of Wealth

We are coarsened by the much talk we hear about property, by the flattery and adulation that is lavished upon large accumulations of money; by the attitude of mean humility we are prone to maintain toward the rich; by the way we bow to them as though we ourselves belonged to an inferior order of beings, and by the vast amount of general admiration with which we distinguish them at their death.

We are debased by pitching the music of our thought and interest to a keynote that is thus low and vulgar. It is not worthy of us. It does not match our possibilities.

Milton tells us that the angels fell because they became enamoured of the golden pavement of the celestial streets. Whoever throws into his own soul or into the heart of the nation a single thought, interest or ambition calculated to break the monopoly of popular regard for what lies at material levels has made contribution to the permanent nobility of our individual and national future.

The world's meanness is can be extinguished only by its submission to the supremacy of higher and finer affections.

Little Bobbie's Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

MA was awful mad at Pa last nite. Pa brought hoam a German frend with he had met down town. His frend's naim was Wilhelm Schwartz. Ma didnt like him at all.

You see, wife, sed Pa to Ma, I met my frend Mister Black down at a boarding house where I went to dinner, & I found him such a bully good fellow that I had to bring him hoam to meet you. Shake hands with Mister Black, sed Pa. My naim is Schwartz, sed Pa's frend. That is all rite, sed Pa, Black is English for Schwartz. Ha, Ha, Pa sed. Tell me wife about the time that you licked Jim Jeffries out in Los Angeles.

Isent there first sumthing to eet? sed Pa's frend.

Sure there is, sed Pa. Dount you think, wife, sed Pa, that as long as our German frend is here we ought to have a Dutch lunch. How about a litel cold tongue & a litel ham & sum pickels & hard-boiled eggs?

There is nothing stirring, sed Ma. I cannot see where I git off to feed sure chanst acquaintances. You will have to eat out this going out on the highways & by-ways, sed Ma. This beam wich you have gave to me is not a tavern, Ma sed.

Tell her about the time you licked Jeffries, sed Pa. She wants to hear it.

Ma dident want to hear it at all, because Ma dident like Pa's frend, but he started in to tell her how he won the fite. It was like this, sed Mister Schwartz, we all were in his cafay, already yet, & were having sumthing to eet. Jest a minnit, sed Ma, beefore you go on. Speeking about eeting, how did you rum to go to a boarding house for your dinner, Ma sed to Pa, & what kind of a boarding house was it?

Well, sed Pa, it was the kind of a eeting place where you have to keep the first fork you git, or els you dount have any fork to use in the rest of the meal. Other-wise Pa sed, it was rather a nice sort of place. But go on, Schwartz, sed Pa, & tell my deer wife & my litel son how you licked Jeffries.

Al rite, said Mr. Schwartz. First I made with my right hand a smash on his jaw, and then the left fist on his jaw went. Then on the floor came my head, strongly.

How very interesting to be sure, sed Ma. I always like to meet peepul wich have done things, Ma sed. I cannot tell you how much pleshur this meeting has gave me, Ma sed.

Yes, said Mister Schwartz Ich weis alot why I did it, sed Mister Schwartz, but I did, & he dident git up for a hour. That's rite, wife, sed Pa, he is telling the truth. He gave Jeff the newest beating which he ever got in his life, & then they say that Germans arent game, sed Pa. That is why I brought Mister Schwartz hoam to meet you, Pa sed.

Now lissen to me, sed Ma. In the first place, I dount believe yure fat frend there ever beet anything except a taller bill, & in the second place, I wish you wud lern, in time, to confine yure rambels to places where folks o class can-greate. The next time that you bring one (1) of these braggers around here, one of these fellows wich tells about beeting prize fites, sed Ma, I will throw him out of the flat, hed over heels. I am not a Amazon, sed Ma, but I can go sum, & you better remember it.

In our country, sed Mister Schwartz, when a woman too fresh gets, we make her sorry. We slap her.

My word, sed Ma, wen she was looking down at Mister Schwartz, you are a fine looking gladiator. How was Mister Jeffries feeling the day that you licked him? sed Ma. The next time that you want to bite a man, Ma sed, let me lend you a nice revolver.

Then Pa sed goodnite to Mister Schwartz & shook hands with Ma. Ma is the champion now.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

PRAISES EDITORIALS

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

After having read your newspaper I cannot help writing in praise of your editorials and thanking you for the much good your writings have done. I admire your editorials. I like the excellent thoughts expressed. There is not an editorial of your production that does not contain some fine thoughts. Your writings are for the good of all classes of people. They defend the cause of the poor man, at the same time inspiring him with courage, hope and perseverance; and on the other hand they show the wealthy man with force of language and dignity of thought that he is nothing but a disgrace to humanity if he, in order to accumulate more and more millions, tries to tread on the rights of the poor. Your editorials interest me and make me think.

I therefore wish to have the collection of your editorials in book form, recently published. Yours truly,

S. SACHS.

LESSON FROM SIGEL CASE

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—I read with horror the murder of Elsie Sigel, and I also read with pleasure your editorial on same.

Isn't it a disgrace to have such crimes occur in this country? It makes me fairly boil with rage. I wonder if this will teach young girls and their parents a lesson? Any one, in my opinion, who permits his white daughter to mingle and associate with the lowest class of Asiatics is using his heart and not his head. This should teach the parents of young girls to keep a sharp eye on their daughters, for, although they may be honorable, there is too much temptation, which will, in time, lead them astray—as this Sigel case.
